TRANSIT STRIKE — Pickets this morning blocked entrance to Bay Area Rapid Transit District's Richmond maintenance yard as 1,200 workers struck the system in a dispute over wage equalization and other contract matters. An idled BART train can be seen behind the pickets. Some 35,000 commuters were advised to find other means of getting to work and the California Highway Patrol reported the stoppage created havoc on the freeways.

Cities Given A Reprieve On General Plan Adoption

Reagan Signs Measure Extending The Deadline

By JEFF GREER

All California counties and cities won a six-month reprieve on mandatory adoption of new general plans when Gov. Ronald Reagan signed a last-minute deadline extension bill on Saturday.

Marin County and its 11 cities were in widely varied states of readiness for the original deadline, which was yesterday. Senate Bill 594, authored by Sen. Fred W. Marlar, R-Redding, extended the deadline to Jan. 1, 1974.

The bill was hand-carried to the governor's office, to assure its signing before yesterday's deadline.

Otherwise, cities and counties that had not at least adopted open space elements and amended their zoning ordinances to match, would have been barred from approving any new subdivisions or acquiring any open space, according to Sol Silver, chief of advanced planning for the county planning department.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors unanimously adopted the county's new general plan June 5, but the county needs the six-month reprieve to complete amending the zoning ordinance to match, Silver explained.

Marin cities' compliance with the general plan requirements imposed by state law in 1968, range from Novato's completion of its overall plan to not even having begun, in Belvedere.

Here is the status:

BELVEDERE — No real start made, according to City Mgr. William L. Cavalli Jr. He said he will recomment at tonight's city council meeting that the city employ a consultant to prepare the required plan. A citizens committee has been working on the open space element.

CORTE MADERA — The town council is to set a hearing tonight on the open space element recommended by the planning commission. Other elements including housing, transportation and seismic hazards have not yet cleared the planning commission. The state isn't expected to set guidelines until September on such elements, and the local governments will have until September 1974 to comply. Consultants Sedway and Cooke of San Francisco are preparing Corte Madera's plan.

FAIRFAX — Early this year the town council adopted a revised general plan in preparation since 1968, and amended its zoning ordinance to match. However, according to Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe, the town may hire a consultant to update the mandatory elements the state now wants in all general plans.

LARKSPUR — The city planning commission will meet tonight and probably recommend that the city council adopt the new general plan map. The text still must be completed to accompany the map. Citizen

Poll Shows Cuts Favored In Defense, Aid Spending

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A majority of voters in the Sixth Congressional District, which includes Marin and part of San Francisco, favors cuts in spending for defense and foreign aid and increases in federal funding for the environment and health care.

Also, according to a poll by the district's representative, Republican William S. Mailliard, a majority opposes U.S. aid to reconstruct Indochina.

The only other majority recorded on 17 subjects included in the questionnaire, was whether mail service has been affected by reorganization of the Postal Service. Fifty-six per cent said it was worse, and only half of 1 per cent said it was better. Thirty-six per cent said no change.

Each of the 200,000 households in the district was sent the questionnaire in March, and almost 25,000 answered.

On the issue of legislation to limit the First Amendment right of reporters to protect their sources, 46 per cent said a reporter should be able to protect his source under any circumstance. But 50 per cent said he should be forced to reveal his sources in cases involving national security.

Asked if a reporter should be forced to reveal his source even though harm may come to the source as a result, 56 per cent responded "no."

On the subject of presidential spending freezes, 48 per cent agreed the executive branch should withhold funds if Congress failed to balance appropriations with revenues. Thirty-five per cent said "no," with the rest undecided or not answering.

The issue of economic aid to reconstruct Indochina was disapproved by 51 per cent. Of the 37 per cent favoring such aid, 35 per cent would exclude North Vietnam.

A near majority, 47 per cent, favored trial of young men who avoided military service, while 46 per cent wanted them granted amnesty.

Recommendations for federal funding of various programs were as follows (excluding those with no opinion or no response): Education, 46.5 per cent for increase, 34.5 per cent for no change, and 10 per cent for decrease; welfare, 17 per cent for increase, 28 per cent for no change, and 48.5 per cent for decrease; housing, 35 per cent for increase, 31.5 per cent for no change, and 22.5 per cent for decrease.

Environment, 52.5 per cent for increase, 24 per cent for no

BART Strike Tangles Freeways

OAKLAND (UPI) — Workers today went on strike against the Bay Area Rapid Transit system (BART), the nation's first new mass transit system in 65 years. Thousands of commuters went back to their automobiles, causing massive traffic jams on freeways along BART routes.

"Terrible," was the way a harried California Highway Patrol officer described the traffic snarls that clogged freeways for miles. "It's back to the way it was before BART."

Many commuters left home earlier than usual in hopes of beating the morning peak hour traffic, but the highway patrol reported that so many people apparently had the same idea that the freeways were jammed with cars long before the normal rush hour.

Handfuls of pickets patrolled some major BART facilities along the 58-mile network.

Top managers of the much-criticized transit district, who had said they would not try to operate the system in the event of a strike, conferred on ways of trying to solve the dispute with the 1,200 operating personnel.

BART carries about 28,000 persons daily along its Richmond to Fremont line and another 7,000 between Oakland and Concord in eastern Contra Costa County.

The last leg of the system's East Bay line was opened in May and only the 3.6-mile tube beneath the Bay between San Francisco and Oakland and the San Francisco subway remain to be finished in the $1.4 billion system.

Commuters were advised to find other means of getting to work in the East Bay.

Paul Varacalli, executive secretary of Local 390 of the United Public Employes, said 900 clerical and maintenance employes struck along with 300 transportation employes who are members of the Amalgamated Transit Union.

Picket lines went up immediately, he said.

"This means the only BART workers not on strike will be management employes and the security division."

The unions had threatened to strike two weeks ago but postponed the walkout after a meeting with BART directors. Unsuccessful negotiations ensued, said Varacalli.

The major problem centered around 150 employes who transferred to BART from other area transit systems with pay scales guaranteed by federal statute.

"In some instances these pay scales were $2 more an hour than other employes doing the same work were receiving," said Varacalli.

The unions presented BART with a new contract proposal last Wednesday. It included the unions' version of how to settle the wage equalization issue.

"They were unable to make any counter proposal after five straight days of bargaining talks," said Varacalli.

Dollar Dips In Europe Once More

BONN (UPI) — The value of the American dollar plummeted in European currency exchange markets today despite the fact that economists had predicted it would stabilize as a result of the revaluation of the West German mark.

In the principal West German exchange at Frankfurt, the dollar opened at a record low of 2.4125 marks and by midday had slumped by three more pfennings to 2.3820 marks. These rates compared with the 2.4350 closing rate Friday, the day of the mark revaluation, and represented a decline of almost 2.2 per cent in the dollar's worth in Germany since then.

As recently as last Thursday, one German mark cost 40 cents in American currency. Today it cost 42 cents, although in theory, and based on the German mark's relationship to Special Drawing Rights in the International Monetary Fund, it should cost only 37.5 cents.

In Brussels, the dollar recovered some of its Friday losses at the opening of business today but quickly lost that gain and much more by noon, when it averaged 36.375 francs, the lowest ever on the free market.

The dollar also hit a new low at opening in Amsterdam, trading at 2.6125 Dutch guilders as compared with Friday's close of 2.6285.

The U.S. currency also fell below Friday's close in Brussels at 36.40 Belgian francs, in Stockholm at 4.04 Kroner, in Zurich at 2.905 Swiss francs and in Rome at 596 lire on the financial half of the two-tiered market.

The dollar improved slightly in Paris, opening at 4.1525 francs median for the financial dollar.

Prime Interest Rate Boosted By Wells Fargo

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Wells Fargo Bank today became the first major California bank to follow the lead of eastern banks and raise its prime interest rate to 8 per cent.

The hike from 7 ¾ per cent was effective immediately.

The rate for loans to biggest and best commercial customers rose after the Federal Reserve Board hiked the discount rate —the interest charged on money lent to banks —from 6 ½ to 7 per cent late Friday.

Humphrey Says Nixon Should 'Come Clean'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey believes President Nixon should "come clean with the American people" by telling what he knows about the Watergate scandal.

The Minnesota Democrat, Nixon's opponent in the 1968 presidential election, said yesterday he believed there was historical precedent for the President to make an "appropriate appearance" in the "appropriate forum." He said the forum might be the Watergate grand jury or the Senate Watergate Committee.

Humphrey's suggestion that the President explain himself echoed those of leaders of the Senate committee. The committee is in recess this week for Congress' observance of the Independence Day holiday. Last week the committee spent five days hearing the testimony of John W. Dean III, the former White House counsel, who charged that Nixon was aware of the cover-up of the Watergate affair.

The President apparently has not decided whether he will appear to answer Dean's charges. J. Fred Buzhardt Jr., special counsel to Nixon, said in a weekend interview with The Washington Post that he did not know "if the President is going to answer Dean."

Hundreds Of Firefighters Sent Against Wilderness Area Blaze

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Giant Army helicopters ferried hundreds of men up the slopes of Mt. San Jacinto today to battle the worst brush fire of the year which was raging out of control into valuable recreation timber land.

By mid-morning, the blaze had burned more than 4,000 acres of the San Jacinto Wilderness Area, a popular hiking and backpacking area.

"It is still burning out of control," a state Division of Forestry spokesman said, "and it is starting to burn some small pockets of timber.

A fleet of air tankers dropped fire retardants on the blaze and Army helicopters flew between 600 and 700 firefighters to the blaze to replace crews which had been battling the flames all night.

The blaze, which began Saturday on the Morongo Indian Reservation, sent a spearhead of flame racing up the San Jacinto Mountains Sunday, eating through stands of pine trees 75 to 125 feet tall, the state Division of Forestry reported.

The men were backed by nine tanker planes, flying water bombing runs over the blaze.

"There's no guessing when the fire will be under control," Wolf said.

The lower area of the fire was considered contained however, after burning Saturday to the fringes of the town of Snow Creek, where one home burned and 30 residents were evacuated.

Winds held the fire away from the city of Palm Springs, a popular resort eight miles away, but the sky over the city was gray with smoke and ashes.

Fire officials at one point yesterday reported the blaze had burned 10,000 acres, but later scaled down the estimate. They said heavy smoke gave an erroneous impression of the acreage.

Many Activities Planned For The Fourth Of July

Independence Day in Marin and Southern Sonoma will be celebrated during a host of Fourth of July activities, including traditional fireworks displays, picnics, parades and barbecues.

Larkspur and Corte Madera have joined forces again for the major celebration in Marin, with festivities beginning Tuesday and spilling into Wednesday.

The only traditional parade in the county — which last year attracted thousands of spectators — starts at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday and will follow Magnolia Avenue from Larkspur through to Corte Madera town park.

Early entries to the parade include the Concord Blue Devils and the Petaluma Police Athletic League, both of whom have promised large units.

On Tuesday, the events will all be in Corte Madera Town Park, with a family picnic slated from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Kayfetz Says Wornum, Arrigoni On 'Vendetta'

Marin County supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Michael Wornum were charged today by Bolinas attorney Paul D. Kayfetz with "a personal vendetta" against him.

The charge came in the wake of a complaint by Arrigoni that Kayfetz had violated regulations of the North Central Coast Regional Conservation Commission by starting to remodel his garage without a commission permit.

Arrigoni made his complaint Thursday night before the commission, which Wornum chairs.

The commission's staff, which was asked to investigate, reported today that there was no basis to the complaint and that Kayfetz did not need a permit.

Kayfetz, in a letter to the commission's staff, said Arrigoni was after him because he supported Arrigoni's opponent in last year's election. Wornum was in on the vendetta, the attorney charged, because he has criticized Wornum's performance on the commission.

Kayfetz said he especially resented the complaint "in light of your staff's oh-so-solicitous accommodation of the recent Seadrift permit applications whose politically influential supporters are near and dear" to Arrigoni and Wornum. Arrigoni has a house at Seadrift.

The commission's executive director, Michael L. Fisher, told the Independent-Journal the requirement for a permit did not apply to remodeling of existing structures if there was no change in the intensity of use. A permit would be required only for additional structural construction valued at more than $7,500.

The only "addition" to Kayfetz's home at 8 Ocean Avenue will be three bay windows, Fischer said.

Slain Diplomat's Body Sent Home

BETHESDA, Md. (UPI) — President Nixon provided a military aircraft to send the body of slain Israeli diplomat ol. Yosef Alon to his homeland today, and bolstered security around all members of the Washington diplomatic community.

The FBI said it did not know whether Alon, the deputy military attache of Israel's embassy, was the victim of crime or terrorism when he was shot to death outside his suburban Washington home Sunday. In Israel, the military command first blamed Arab terrorists but later said it did not know.

Alon, a 43 year-old father of three daughters, was struck five times in the chest as he returned home from a private party early Sunday with his wife.

During a 20-minute planeside eulogy at Andrews Air Force, Base Sunday night, Ambassador Simcha Dinitz told mourners in Hebrew: "The frontiers of Israel are everywhere. The hands of those who tried to kill him in the air, reached him here."

As Dinitz spoke, Alon's two older daughters Dahlia, 18 and Yael, 14, sobbed softly. His third daughter, Rachel, 5, stood quietly.

In Jerusalem, Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir's office released a condolence telegram from Nixon saying "our law enforcement agencies have been instructed to devote all existing resources to investigation of this brutal act."

The Israeli military command had charged that Alon was shot by "terrorists." But Defense Minister Moshe Dayan later told the Israeli cabinet that it was not known whether Arab guerrillas were responsible for Alon's death.

Israeli officials in Washington said they knew of no reason for Alon's violent death.

"He was involved in no special activity that would have made him a special target," Maj. Gen. Mordechai Gur, Israeli defense attache, said.

Alon, an expert in air and naval affairs, had served three years in Washington and was scheduled to return home next month. He was one of the first pilots in the Israeli Air Force and served as a squadron commander and senior pilot during the six-day war in 1967.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said the murder was "a very tragic event."

"He was a very brave man, a very respected man and somehow we have to find a way to prevent these horrible things in international life," he said.

Rogers promised that the United States would do all it could to find "the assassin and see that he is punished."

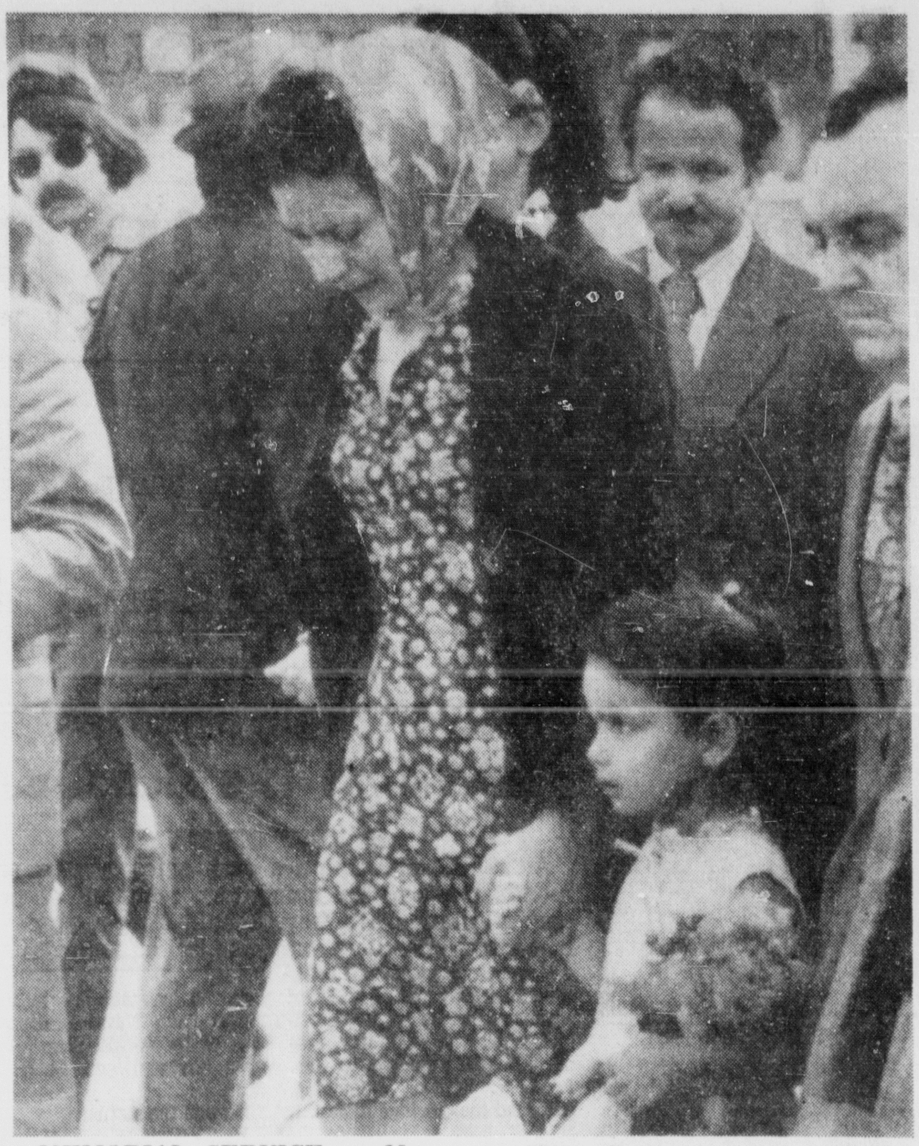
The FBI, working on the case with local police, said only, "We haven't drawn any conclusion." A State Department spokesman said the department and the FBI have "no evidence as to motives yet and therefore prefer not to speculate as to who committed the act."

Police said there was no evidence of a robbery attempt.

The shooting occurred as Alon and his wife, Devora, were returning home from a party with fellow diplomats at a private home.

Police said Alon was apparently shot without warning at close range as he was getting out of his car in the driveway.

Mrs. Alon told police she was walking toward the front door when she heard shots. After running inside and turning on an outside light, Mrs. Alon said she saw her husband fall on the lawn a few feet from the car.



MEMORIAL SERVICE — Mrs. Devora Alon and her youngest daughter, Rachel, 5, arrived at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., yesterday for memorial services for her slain husband, Col. Yosef Alon, deputy military attache at the Israeli Embassy in Washington, D.C. Alon was shot five times and died instantly as he and his wife returned home after attending a party for a fellow diplomat. President Nixon provided a U.S. military plane to carry the body back to Israel.

No Injuries In Alaskan Quake

JUNEAU, Alaska (UPI) — A strong earthquake produced a "good jolt" for residents of Alaska's southeastern coast yesterday, but no damage or injuries were reported.

The Coast Guard said a check of the small community of Pelican on Chichagof Island, believed to be the closest point o the center of the quake, showed no damage reported. Residents got a "good shake," a spokesman said.

Iraq's Assassinated Defense Minister Said Intrigue Victim

BEIRUT (UPI) — Iraq's Socialist regime buried assassinated Defense Minister Lt. Gen. Hammad Chehab today only about 12 hours after announcing the high-level political intrigue that claimed his life, the Iraqi news agency reported.

The agency referred to the funeral as that of a Baathist Socialist hero "who was assassinated by a clique of traitors to the people and the revolution."

The plot led by Iraq's security chief, Nazem Kazzar, which ended with the death of 51-year-old Chehab and the arrest of Kazzar, took place Saturday.

The prompt funeral might have been designed to minimize the effect on public opinion of what outside commentators believed was an attempted coup against President Ahmad Hassan al-Bakr, 59.

Bakr, who returned from a visit to Poland the day the assassination took place, did not attend the military funeral for Chehab in person, the Iraqi news agency said. But Saddam Hussein, deputy chairman of the ruling Revolutionary Command Council and the reputed strong man of the Iraqi regime, headed the government contingent.

The agency gave no details of the funeral, other than to say it was conducted amid "military and popular ceremony." After the funeral in Baghdad, the defense minister's coffin was taken by road for burial in his home village of Takrit, about 100 miles north of Baghdad.

The sparse official statement issued Sunday night said the plotters were heading for the Iranian border at the time troops arrested them. Before capture they shot Chehab dead, and wounded Interior Minister Lt. Gen. Saadoun Gheidan. Two lieutenants, believed to be from the police, also died.

A statement by Iraq's ruling Baathists said plotters led by Director of Public Security Nazem Kazzar were heading for the Iranian border with Defense Minister Lt. Gen. Hammad Chehab and other prisoners when the murders occurred.

Arab commentators warned that the statement could cause further deterioration between Iraq and Iran.

In the same shooting incident, the Iraq statement said, Interior Minister Lt. Gen. Saadoun Gheidan was shot and wounded and two lieutenants killed.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Commando Raid

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist commandos crept into an ammunition dump 15 miles northeast of Saigon before dawn today, but were driven off before they could do any damage, the Saigon command said.

One of the commandos was killed, the command said. On June 1, commandos blew up 4,000 tons of ammunition at Long Binh, about three miles south of the dump in the raid today.

The command reported 94 alleged Communist cease-fire violations in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today, the most since 104 were reported June 19.

Crisis In Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — President Salvador Allende's government warned yesterday that Chile is near its first civil war in 81 years and said it would seek the approval of parliament today to take emergency steps to deal with the crisis.

But the opposition National and Christian Democrat parties said they would not grant Allende's request to declare martial law for 90 days.

The two parties hold a majority in the Chamber of Deputies.

The self-described Marxist president sought the emergency powers in the wake of an unsuccessful revolt Friday by a military unit. The government said 22 persons were shot dead with at least another 40 wounded in fighting near the presidential palace.

Most Exemption Requests Denied In Price Freeze

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cost of Living Council officials have turned down 32 of 36 requests for exemptions from the 60-day price freeze since it went into effect June 13.

In a weekend report, the CLC said three of the exemptions went to meat firms and one to a manufacturer of potato chips. The requests it turned down included those submitted by the American Stock Exchange and Coca-Cola.

The stock exchange asked for exemption to implement a revised fee structure which had been approved by listed firms and the Securities and Exchange Commission. Coca-Cola requested an exemption to increase syrup prices to reflect increased costs.

on preprinted packaging bags "to offset increased costs and prevent substantial financial hardships."

The three meat companies were allowed to adjust their ceilings to absorb increased costs.

Tropical Storm

MIAMI (UPI) — The 1973 hurricane season's first tropical disturbance sprang up far out in the Caribbean Sea yesterday.

The "small low pressure system," was located about 500 miles north of the Dominican Republic, or more than 700 miles east of here, early today. Highest sustained winds were about 35 miles per hour, or gale force.

Soldier Slain

BELFAST (UPI) — A sniper shot and killed a British soldier yesterday only a few hours after his pregnant wife telephoned him to wish him a happy 25th birthday.

Authorities said the death of Pvt. Reginald B. Roberts, the 840th victim of political and religious strife in Northern Ireland, supported reports by Irish Republican Army (IRA) extremists that they are determined to pursue a policy of violence.

IRA sources said its extremist Provisional wing would continue its shooting and bombing despite the possibility that Roman Catholics will share power with Protestants as a result of the Northern Irish assembly elections last week.

Nancy Mitford Dies Following A Long Illness

VERSAILLES, France (UPI) — Writer Nancy Mitford who made "U" and "Non-U" an international pastime, died at her Versailles home Saturday after a long illness, French and British officials said.

She was 68.

Miss Mitford, daughter of England's Baron Redesdale, was one of a well-known writing family of sisters, including Jessica and Unity.

Nancy wrote several successful novels including "The Pursuit of Love" and "Love in a Cold Climate," but it was a 1956 satirical article telling how a person's social class could be assessed by the "U" and "Non-U" code that brought her most fame.

Under the code, status was classed on the basis of what word an individual used to describe certain objects, such as "napkin" or "serviette," "lavatory or toilet," "dessert or sweet."

Bomb Strikes

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — U.S. warplanes carried out heavy bombing raids within a 20-mile radius of Phnom Penh today, supporting government troops battling Communist forces north and south of the capital.

The deep rumble of bombs bursting reverberated through Phnom Penh during the night, awakening residents of the city on the 118th consecutive day of intense U.S. air activity over Cambodia.

Cambodian command spokesman Col. Am Rong said he understood some strikes were in support of troops fighting 13 miles south of the city on Highway 3, where at least seven government troops were wounded and one killed in fighting yesterday.

Cruise Problem

MIAMI (UPI) — The Dade County health director said yesterday that cruise line officials did everything medically possible to handle a diarrhea epidemic aboard the M.S. Skyward.

"From a medical standpoint, they did everything they could have done," Dr. Milton Saslaw told UPI. He said there was no reason to cut off the Caribbean cruise any earlier than officials did because tests run in San Juan Tuesday did not show food or water contamination.

The Norwegian-Caribbean line ship headed back to its home port of Miami Thursday after most of the 1,020 passengers and crew had been struck with diarrhea, nausea and fever.

Reagans On Pack Trip In Sierras

The Reagans and Resources Secretary Norman Livermore and his wife began the four-day trip yesterday.

The starting point of the trip was east of Porterville and it is scheduled to end at Curry Village in Yosemite National Park.

After that, Reagan will vacation at his Pacific Palisades home until the first week in August.

Nixon Sees Drop In Food Prices

Signs Bill For Halt In Bombing

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon said yesterday that food prices will drop this autumn under the impact of the biggest wheat crop ever and a harvest swollen by 40 million acres of additional farm land.

In a 13-minute nationwide radio address, Nixon promised to keep the across-the-board price freeze, which has antag nized some businessmen, "as short as possible."

Also yesterday, Nixon signed the bill that effects a compromise in his running battle with Congress over the bombing of Cambodia. The President promised to seek authority from Congress for bombing after Aug. 15, but maintained he still retains power to conduct foreign affairs, and he expects Congress to go along with him if he thinks more bombing is needed "to win lasting peace."

In his radio speech on the economy, Nixon said his advisers are currently consulting with consumer, business and labor groups on Phase Four. The new policy, which will apparently involve stronger controls than those of Phase Three, will be "comprehensive and realistic," he said.

Nixon said he was "pleased to be able to report that Americans generally are cooperating in making the freeze a success.

"Prices are being held. We are determined that prices will continue to be held."

"The wheat crop this year is expected to be the biggest ever," he said. "The many measures we have taken to increase the supply of farm commodities—including the release of more than 40 million additional acres for farm production — will eventually bring more farm products to the market, and will provide relief against high food prices.

"But meanwhile, we are paying in higher food prices for the combination of limited supply and greater worldwide demand."

He predicted the greater supply of farm products would also ease the ban on exports of food, which has upset some of this nation's foreign buyers.

"In the long run, the one thing—and the only thing—that will keep prices down is sufficient supply to meet the demand, coupled with responsible fiscal and monetary policies," he added.

Since his arrival here nine days ago, Nixon has remained on the grounds of the California White House, tending to official Business. He was to preside at 1:30 p.m. EDT today at the swearing in of James R. Schlesinger as secretary of defense, and confer with him on Pentagon matters.

Nixon signed three money bills yesterday, including a Social Security benefits hike and the ban on funds for bombing Cambodia after Aug. 15.

"As President, charged by our Constitution with responsibility for conducting our foreign policy and negotiating an end to our conflicts," he declared, "I will continue to take the responsible actions necessary to win that peace. Should further actions be required to that end later this year, I shall request the Congress to help us achieve our objectives."

In other developments, the President's legal counsel in the Watergate scandal described Nixon in a Washington Post interview as "confused" about the facts in the case. He also said the President has not decided whether to publicly answer allegations by former White House Counsel John W. Dean that Nixon was involved in the coverup.

According to press aides here, Nixon has not been in touch personally with Counsel J. Fred Buzhardt since he arrived here.

Nixon has not been in touch with H. R. Haldeman, his ousted chief of staff, who is staying in a $750,000 borrowed home some 30 miles from here, his aides said.

Tanker Rammed By Cargo Ship

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Liberian cargo ship rammed into a Texaco tanker loaded with more than 250,000 barrels of mixed fuels in upper New York Bay yesterday. There were no injuries and only slight damage.

The collision occured in heavy fog near the Verrazano Narrows, where 16 persons died and 63 others were rescued five weeks ago in a collision between a tanker and a container ship.

AN ECOLOGY TRIP FOR YOUR "INNARDS"

THERADOPHILUS may be a mouthful to pronounce. But it's something no self-respecting intestines should be without. So say people who take this pleasant tasting mixture morning and night. Some find that taking it every 6 months is enough. And physicians recommend it, too. Why? Because it helps the friendly bacteria, little microscopic plants, to keep our digestive tract in a healthy condition.

As we grow older, the natural helpful bacteria decrease. Unless we replace them, toxic conditions may occur. This is particularly so, we're told, after anti-biotics are taken. A bottle of THERADOPHILUS is an effective way to replant the "good guys" which have been destroyed along with germs or viruses. Lactobacillus acidophilus is the name of these little friends. When you come in, we'll be glad to try pronouncing that for you!

BUGGING

about what to recommend," Buzhardt said. "There are various forums. I'm not sure if we want to put the President in a position to answer a confessed felon."

Buzhardt also said he was certain "the President doesn't know a lot about this." Buzhardt said he himself does not know which one, if any, of the President's former aides to believe.

"I'm not sure what I believe beyond the innocence of the President," Buzhardt said.

Charles W. Colson, a former special counsel in the White House said yesterday that President Nixon probably does not know "to this day" who ordered the burglary and bugging of Democratic national headquarters last year.

Colson said Nixon had told him in every conversation over the past year that he wanted to get to the truth behind the Watergate raid. But, Colson said, Nixon's aides constantly hid the truth. Colson contended that Dean and other aides gave Nixon conflicting reports to protect themselves.

Colson was interviewed on CBS' "Face the Nation."

Humphrey said in a television interview he believed that after all the evidence is in it will be necessary for Nixon "to come clean with the American people in the appropriate forum, either before a grand jury or before the Senate committee, testifying as any other officer of government or citizen."

CITIES

groups have been working since March on the various elements.

MILL VALLEY — The city has adopted an interim open space element and imposed a residential building moratorium that may be extended through June 1975 while the rest of the plan is completed. Tom W. Newton, director of community development, reported that consultants Sedway and Cooke have been hired for $45,000 to do the job. Preliminary surveys and public discussions are going on. "We're shooting for a target date of 1974," Newton said. The state penalties for missing the deadline couldn't "have a very profound effect" because Mill Valley already has its own moratorium pending completion of the plan.

NOVATO — The city council adopted the entire new general plan by unanimous vote on June 12, including a limit of 500 new residential units per year through the year 1990.

ROSS — The Town Council adopted an open space and conservation element June 14, and has hired consultant James M. Campbell, Palo Alto, who prepared the town's general plan in the early 1960s.

SAN ANSELMO — City officials are interviewing potential advance planners today and tomorrow to hire one either on an in-house or consultant basis to write the state-required elements. Charles R. Leitzell, public works director, reported the city already has an interim housing element but "it's very general," and may not comply with state requirements. A moratorium is in effect on zoning changes and subdivisions; it may be extended through next July.

SAN RAFAEL — Intensive work is being done on the city's new general plan, according to Herbert H. Hotchner, planning director. Interim housing and open space elements were adopted last year. Meanwhile, San Rafael has, by its GPC zone, a moratorium on development that might conflict with the proposed general plan, on any property exceeding two acres.

SAUSALITO — In-house work is concentrating on the open space and conservation element, according to Herb Case, planning director. A moratorium on developments in potential open space areas expired Saturday. No element has been adopted.

TIBURON — The city council has adopted the open space element prepared by consultants Mocine and Williams, and on Thursday amended the city zoning ordinance to match. Reports on recommended housing and circulation elements are to be presented at tonight's council meeting, according to City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer. The city presently has a development moratorium. Balmer will recommend it be repealed later this month, because the city has met the state deadlines at least on the open space and zoning ordinance.

Door Blown Out With Pipe Bomb

A pipe bomb, which sheriff's deputies said was probably filled with gunpowder, blew out a glass door at the Tamalpais Valley School last night.

Deputies said someone taped the bomb, made from a few inches of metal pipe, to a door on the east side of the school and ignited it at about 10:25 p.m. The noise and smoke coming from the school at 350 Bell Lane led neighbors to call the Marin County sheriff's office.

Damage was estimated at $20 to $30.

NOT AN ORDINARY CRUISE

This happy family has just returned from an ocean cruise. They did it in a 30-foot catamaran and they circled the globe. Colin Swale (right), 35, is holding his daughter Eve, 3, and his wife Rosie, 25, is holding their son James, 2. James had a novel experience when the family arrived yesterday at Plymouth, England —he stepped on land. He has spent most of his life at sea. Reagan's 'Fortitude' Challenged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's new $9.38 billion budget, the largest of any state in the nation, kindled a controversy today over Gov. Ronald Reagan's "fortitude" and tax ceiling initiative.

Reagan signed the record spending proposal Saturday, about 13 hours before it was supposed to take effect and after trimming it by $80 million.

It contains sizable pay hikes for state workers, money for a new Capitol, $85 million for park acquisition, $1.3 million for a governor's mansion and the largest increase in state aid for schools in history.

The budget is $1.7 billion higher than the $7.7 billion spending program for the last fiscal year and $4.29 billion higher than the first budget Reagan signed in 1967.

Senate Democratic leader George Moscone of San Francisco promptly accused Reagan, who prides himself on his "cut, squeeze and trim" fiscal philosophy, of "cheap hypocrisy" in signing the budget without cutting it more.

In remarks prepared for delivery to a group of his supporters in Alameda County yesterday, Moscone said that if Reagan's tax ceiling plan had been in effect this year, the budget would have been $3 billion less than the $9.38 billion budget he signed.

"Those same cuts could have been made by one stroke of the governor's blue pencil without bothering to ask the taxpayers for a $70 million special election (Nov. 6)," said Moscone, who is seeking the 1974 Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

"If the governor wanted to do what he wants future governors to do, then he would cut severely into the programs for the forthcoming year. In short, Gov. Reagan does not have the fortitude to do what others who succeed him must," Moscone declared.

In signing the budget, Reagan called for passage of his tax limitation plan. He said "no amount of realistic cut, squeeze and trim" alone can reverse "the trend toward bigger and more expensive government."

The biggest cuts in the budget, which represents about $467 for every man, woman and child in the state, came in the areas of welfare and children's day care centers.

Welfare and state assistance programs were trimmed by $21.3 million and day care by $20.9 million.

Reagan gave various reasons for the cuts including smaller caseloads, "sufficient" existing funds and a declaration that it was not his intention to "automatically" pick up the cost of programs dropped by the federal government.

Reagan also trimmed $18.5 million from the state's medical assistance program, citing a smaller caseload projection.

He sliced $3.4 million from the state penal system and $1.5 million each from the University of California and state college system.

He left virtually intact provisions for an average 12.9 per cent increase for state civil servants. University of California and state college teachers and other personnel will receive a lesser amount. The wage hikes will cost about $256 million.

The large increase in the budget came as the result of a new law providing about $560 million in combined property tax relief and school aid. About $300 million of the total will be for tax relief.

Also set aside in the budget is $42 million for beginning construction of a new, twin-tower legislative office building and chambers and reconstruction of the Capitol's 104- year-old west wing.

The budget is 28 per cent higher than last year's.

Tax Boost Costing $1.7 Million A Day

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — An unresolved 'dispute between Gov. Ronald Reagan and the state legislature means Californians are paying an extra $1.7 million a day into state coffers that already show a $829 million surplus.

Residents are paying more money for beer, bathing suits, automobiles and air conditioners as a result of a one-cent increase in the state sales tax which went into effect at 12:01 a.m. yesterday after Reagan vetoed a bill to delay it for six months and provide a one-time income tax rebate of 30 per cent.

The state does not need the money because it has an estimated budget surplus of $829 million. The new levy raises the sales tax to 6 per cent, or 6.5 per cent in some counties.

The increase was enacted last year to help pay for the state's new property tax relief school aid program. When the surplus emerged later, virtually everybody agreed a delay was in order.

Lawmakers and the governor both proposed to postpone the extra tax until January. But they could not agree on a formula to return the $829 million surplus to state taxpayers via a rebate on state income taxes.

After months of wrangling, both houses of the legislature voted overwhelmingly for a bill to postpone the tax and give income taxpayers the 30 per cent rebate, limited to $200 a couple.

Reagan, a Republican, vetoed the Democratic-sponsored measure Saturday, thus allowing the penny tax to go into effect automatically. He called the bill "grossly unfair and inequitable."

Reagan's primary objection was that the $200 per couple limit would return the surplus to taxpayers in different proportions than they paid it. He said the penny sales tax should be delayed, and that next year's income tax be reduced in direct proportion to a couple's income.

"This offer was outrageous because it continues to give to the very rich," said Assembly Speaker Robert Moretti, a Democrat.

Budget Cut Less Than Last Year

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The new, $9.38 billion state budget signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan during the weekend is nearly $1.7 billion higher than the one he approved last year and surpassed his first spending program by $4.29 billion.

The $80 million in proposed spending Reagan cut from the budget was far less than the $258 million he slashed last year.

Here's what Reagan's budgets have totaled and the amounts he has vetoed since becoming governor:

1967—$5.09 billion. Cut $43.5 million.

1968—$5.69 billion. Cut $16.2 million.

1969—$6.24 billion. Cut $125 million.

1970—$6.59 billion. No cuts.

1971—$6.78 billion. Cut $503.6 million.

1972—$7.70 billion. Cut $257.9 million.

Fire Information Days Are Planned

Santa Margarita Homeowners' Association directors decided Friday night to hold a repeat of last year's fire information days, at 10 a.m. July 14 in Santa Margarita Park, Terra Linda.

Charlotte Schmid, board secretary, said two recent fires in Terra Linda, possibly started by children, prompted the decision to have another public information session like the one held last year. San Rafael Fire Department officials will discuss fire prevention with the parents and children attending.

Robbery At Cala Market In Fairfax

An armed robber locked a clerk in the produce locker and escaped with approximately $4,000 yesterday from the Cala Market in Fairfax.

According to police, when Reed R. Ingalls entered the store at 2040 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at 7:30 a.m., he was held up at gunpoint by a man wearing tan coveralls, tan ski mask and gloves. The robber picked up an empty cardboard box from the store and ordered Ingalls to open the safe and put the money in the box.

Ingalls put in about $150 and the robber, holding the automatic pistol at him, locked him up in the produce locker, police reported. Ingalls broke out to find the robber was still taking money from the safe.

This time, he took Ingalls' car keys and his wallet containing $5 and some credit cards. Again he locked Ingalls in the produce locker and ordered him to stay there, the clerk told police.

Ingalls stayed there until 9 a.m. when he again broke out and called police.

Police reported the robber escaped in Ingalls 1969 Volkswagen. They suspect that the man had concealed himself in the store at closing time Saturday night.

A 22-year-old San Rafael woman was raped and robbed at knifepoint at 1:55 a.m. yesterday at Woodland Avenue and Octavia Street, San Rafael police reported.

According to the report, the man stuck the knife under her chin, forced her to disrobe and raped her in an empty lot. He then told her to get dressed and took her wallet containing six dollars and fled on foot, according to police.

He was described as a Caucasian, 20 to 25 years old, medium build, weighing about 150 pounds and having long brown curly hair.

The National Weather Service predicts it will be hot and dry this month in Marin. The service's 30-day forecast calls for above normal temperatures and no likelihood of rain. During the same period last year, San Rafael's daytime temperatures averaged in the mid-80s. One of the hottest days on record for San Rafael was recorded last July 13 when the temperature hit the 109-degree mark.

Observations Of Eclipse Termed A Solid Success

LOIYANGALANI, Kenya (UPI) — The foreign scientists, poring over sophisticated astronomical equipment, proclaimed it a solid success. African natives were not so sure.

Scientists by the hundreds gathered at remote points and put up telescopes and recording gear to observe and capture the sun in eclipse and the wide shadow it cast across the African continent.

"It's been a great success," said one scientist. "A great moment."

"We got whatever we came to collect," said Bill Curtis of Boulder, Colo., one of hundreds who came to this isolated village on the shores of Lake Rudolf to view the sun as the moon passed between it and the earth Saturday.

But villagers thought the scientists had come to steal the sun and that the eclipse heralded a famine, drought, plague of locusts or the end of the world. They barricaded their huts with sheet metal and cardboard.

The seven-minute, four-second eclipse was the second longest since man began keeping accurate records of the phenomenon.

A second major contingent of scientists gathered at Chinguetti, in Mauritania, which also lay in the direct path of the area where the moon's shadow lasts the longest.

Scientists gained the longest view of an eclipse on record—74 minutes—while chasing the shadow across Africa aboard the Franco-British supersonic Concorde plane.

When the plane landed in Fort Lamy, Chad, at the end of its trip from Las Palmas in the Canary Islands, one scientist said the American, British and French group "had all the conditions we hoped for."

During the flight the scientists viewed the eclipse at 1,900 miles per hour through a special window cut in the roof of the Concorde.

Miss Smith is a voice and piano student and a member of the Dominican College Chorus, according to a college spokesman. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Bowen of 9679 Chalk Hill Road, Healdsburg.

The Miss California title was won by Susan Kaye Shipley, 21, of Stockton, San Joaquin County.

Physical Conditioning No Space Travel Need

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab 1 pilots say future space travelers will encounter few physical problems because of extended spaceflights, so few that specially conditioned astronauts will not be needed.

"I don't think there is any question we can protect the strength and tone of the muscles with proper exercise," Joseph P. Kerwin, the first American physician in space, said Sunday.

But astronaut Paul J. Weitz said future space fliers will "have to be a little more careful than we were in keeping themselves in shape."

Kerwin, Weitz and Charles "Pete" Conrad appeared on ABC's Issues and Answers program. They said they had some problems readjusting to earth's gravity after 28 days in orbit, but were able to do a normal day's work only a few days after the splashdown.

Conrad, a veteran of four space journeys including one to the moon's surface, said that astronauts will be replaced by the average man and woman when this country has a reusable spacecraft such as the space shuttle program of the late 1970s.

"Astronauts are a dying breed," Conrad said. "We came. And we're going to leave here with shuttle. Because we're back to the mode that I always said we needed to get to in the space program, which is the test pilots develop the hardware and the operations pilots use that transportation system. I think astronauts are going with shuttle."

The commander also said private industry must take over in space.

"I challenge the nation to use the transportation system that e've developed," he said. "I want to see the American ingenuity to come in and use space."

Kerwin said in a decade "space will be a tool utilized largely by the private sector. The government won't be paying the bill any more."

Conrad said he planned to stay with NASA through the shuttle program, but his crewmates indicated they might leave unless they could fly again.

Jury Clears Company Of Fraud Count

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — A jury today declared General Dynamics Corp. innocent of federal charges that the Texas-based company had defrauded the government of $114,000 by using faulty metal plates in the F111 fighterbomber.

The jury took a little more than an hour to reach its verdict.

The two-count indictment had charged General Dynamics with conspiracy to defraud and with presenting fraudulent documents to the government.

The trial began last week.

"Our case was based on human error," Don McDowell, a company spokesman said. "We contended that the documents were perhaps incorrectly prepared but that it was entirely human error.

"And to conspire you have to have intent. There was no intent involved."

Petaluma Man Found Guilty Of Welfare Fraud

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — James Harry Snowden of Petaluma has been found guilty in Sonoma County Superior Court of felony welfare fraud.

The jury deliberated from 5 p.m. Friday until 1:45 a.m. Saturday before reaching the verdict. A previous trial in May left a jury deadlocked 11-1 for conviction.

Snowden, 42, was charged with defrauding the aid to families with dependent children program of $7,000 from 1970 to 1972. His wife, Carlyn, 29, had previously been found guilty on the same charge.

Welfare investigator Richard Austing said the couple together had fraudulently received $12,500 in the aid program and $2,000 more in food stamps.

Judge Kenneth Eymann referred Snowden's case to the probation department for a presentencing report.

Europeans To Discuss Cooperation

HELSINKI (UPI) — Albania said it definitely would not attend but another 34 foreign ministers from East and West began arriving yesterday for a meeting that could reshape the mood of all Europe.

Albania, once the only friend of China in Europe, was the only country that is not attending the conference on security and cooperation that opens Tuesday.

Many foreign ministers were en route to Helsinki today for the opening of the long-awaited, long-planned conference.

But the ministers of the major Western allies, including the United States and Canada, flew instead to London for a birthday party for Foreign Secretary Alec Douglas-Home, 70. The ministers planned to fly to Helsinki Tuesday, arriving an hour before the conference begins.

Among the key arrivals today were Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Prime Minister Dom Mintoff of Malta.

The Soviet Union, which campaigned long and hard for the meeting, will speak first after the opening ceremonies.

Mintoff already has indicated he may cause problems. He said he wants speaking privileges for Tunisia and Algeria—something the other foreign ministers have vetoed.

But since the one decision the ministers must make in Helsinki is the date of another conference session in Geneva and since it must be a unanimous decision, Mintoff holds a possible veto.

Western diplomatic sources said France and Italy were working on a compromise, allowing the Algerians and Tunisians to speak after all the participants have spoken.

Ministers were expected to meet for eight working days, exchanging views on a series of issues—new agreements in military security, "human contact," tourism and trade. The drafting of specific proposals will come at the Geneva stage.

Several East European ministers arrived yesterday and echoed a theme of peace in Europe.

"The time has come," said Otto Winzer of East Germany, "for multi-lateral arrangements to be agreed between states of different social and political systems of all Europe as well as the United States and Canada — arrangements which will guarantee that an era of peace and all around cooperation will begin now for Europe."

Public Hearings On Development Will Be Held

The Larkspur City Council will hold public hearings on two urgency ordinances designed to control development at its meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The first extends the building moratorium on the steep hillside west of Magnolia Avenue, and the second extends the open space moratorium on the North Ridge within the city's limits.

Councilmen also will consider whether to pay themselves a salary — a move that's split the council at recent meetings, with councilman Neil R. Brixon opposing the suggested figure of $150 a month each.

Two At Home Pistol Whipped

A 19-year-old San Rafael woman and an acquaintance from Oakland have reported being pistol whipped Saturday by a man who burst from her bedroom closet waving a gun.

Brenda Wade of 12 Ross Street was treated for scalp cuts at Marin General Hospital following the attack at her home at 3 p.m. Saturday. Jonathon McDowell, an acquaintance from Oakland, was not hospitalized, according to police.

According to police, Miss Wade and McDowell said they were listening to records when a man burst from the closet, in which he apparently had been hiding, attacked them and fled in her car.

Police, who later found the car near 35 Cole Drive, Marin City, were today seeking Kenny Ray White, 21, of 41 Cole Drive, Marin City, said to be another acquaintance of Miss Wade.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hair Transplants Are Drawing More Interest Due To Senator

Interest in hair transplants was renewed when one of our Midwestern senators decided to resod his balding head. From all indications, he is satisfied with the result. When successful, this means a complete or natural hair appearance. Dermatologists have been doing hair transplants for 15 years and the pros and cons of the technique are fairly well known.

According to Dr. Norman Orentreich, a pioneer in this field, the individual who wants a transplant should receive a written outline of the principles and details of the procedure.

HE SHOULD know the sequence of events that he can expect in wound healing and hair growth, as well as things to avoid and side effects that may take place. There are many other important details, such as the cosmetic incapacitation during the healing stages, the number of grafts needed, the most satisfactory hairstyle, and above all, the costs.

In general, the procedure involves the removal of one-quarter-inch plugs of hair from the side of the scalp and the replanting of them in similar size holes in the bald area. A special punch is used for this purpose on scalp areas previously anesthetized with a two per cent lidocaine solution. Ten to 50 plugs are grafted each visit. The number done during each treatment depends upon the extent of baldness and the amount of cosmetic incapacity (bandage, crusts, healing plugs, etc.) the individual is willing to accept.

HAIR TRANSPLANTING requires more skill than might be expected because the angle of the new hair should be set in the right direction. In addition, the new hairline must be natural looking. Great care must be exercised not to damage the base of the donor hair follicle. These grafts cannot be disturbed for 10 days.

The person should expect some discomfort, numbness, or altered sensations. The hairs in the graft usually fall out after a month and do not regrow for three months after the procedure. Success can be expected if the grafts were removed from an area that is not destined to become bald.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by ail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request fo Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

LEGS, LEMON JUICE

A reader writes: Pain develops in the calves of my legs whenever I walk several blocks. It disappears when I stand still for a few moments. Someone told me lemon juice is good for this. Do you agree?

REPLY

No. Lemon juice is of no value in the treatment of poor circulation. You need a diagnosis and if I'm correct, vasodilator drugs and other instructions relative to walking and the care of the feet may be helpful. As a last resort, there are several operations (sympatheotomy or an arterial graft) that can be done to improve the circulation. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on poor circulation.

SHAPE TELLS NOTHING

E. T. writes: Can a physician tell from the shape of a lump whether it is malignant?

REPLY

Not exactly, because both benign and malignant tumors come in various shapes. Exceptions are fatty tumors and cysts on the skin. In the final analysis, a biopsy is the only way to distinguish a benign from a malignant tumor.

Individual Can Act To Preserve Fuel

Executives of major oil companies are predicting that the price of regular gasoline will soon hit 50 cents, and some are even predicting prices as high as $1 or $1.25 per gallon.

Man has probably consumed more energy in the last 30 years than he has in all prior history. Occidental Petroleum Corporation's publication estimates that the world's per capita energy consumption will quadruple by the year 2000, and the per capita energy consumption in the United States will double by 1985, just 12 years from today. Any energy crisis we have now will become even more acute in a few short years.

WHETHER THE present crisis represents a real shortage or whether it is a temporary phenomenon created by large fuel companies to squeeze out the smaller independents, there is not much that we as individuals can do about the total supply.

What we can do is to recognize that the pinch is on and take steps for self preservation.

Of immediate concern is the gasoline shortage. Some of the service stations are rationing the amount of each purchase, closing earlier than usual, and shutting down completely on Sundays.

INDIVIDUAL DRIVERS will have to change some of their driving habits.

"Small World", a magazine published for the owners of a small foreign car, gives some secrets for better gas mileage. These pointers apply just as well to owners of bigger cars:

Avoid show-off starts. The temptation to shoot away from stoplights may be great, but such starts cut down drastically on mileage.

Don't pump the gas pedal. Jerky or uneven driving wastes gas; keep a steady foot on the pedal.

ANTICIPATE AHEAD while driving to avoid sudden change of speed or direction. In the city, anticipate a half a block ahead and on the open highway a quarter mile ahead.

Avoid panic stops, pass other cars smoothly, and shift when "comfortable" instead of staying in gear until the engine is screaming or shifting too early to make the engine struggle.

Don't speed unnecessarily because gas consumption is about 10 per cent higher at 60 miles per hour than at 50 miles per hour.

IN HIGHWAY driving, reach the speed you want, then slowly back off the gas pedal. Often, the speed will stay where you want it with less pressure on the pedal.

Don't idle needlessly. If you are waiting to pick someone up, turn off the engine; it takes less gasoline to start up again later.

Check tire pressures to see that they are at the recommended level. Soft tires cut down on mileage.

KEEP THE ENGINE tuned and the front end aligned because an out-of-tune engine, particularly on newer cars with more sophisticated smog devices, can shoot down gas mileage.

Individual efforts at saving a few drops may seem like a futile gesture, but multiplied by several million drivers, those efforts could have a favorable impact on the total supply and on the cost.

The Swifts

Marinites are familiar with the Swift family. Often in the early evening, they are observed darting here and there above the tree-tops, catching insects. Swift is an apt name for they have been clocked flying at speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour. Their Latin name, Apodidae, means "footless." The story has it the great nomenclaturist, Linnaeus, named the family from a badly prepared specimen which was indeed footless. Swifts do have small feet.

BRIDGE DIRECTORS

They Fight Among Selves Like A Bunch Of Brats

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Golden Gate Bridge District directors have cut themselves adrift from the public interest so they can devote full time to fighting among themselves.

Personal animosity and ambition have so captivated their attention that virtually everything is on ice, from needed new buses to mechanics to service the existing coaches.

What the directors need is a swift kick from the citizens groups that some years ago compelled them to get into the transit business. Representatives of these groups who used to bedevil the board and attend virtually every committee meeting vanished long ago.

THEIR ABSENCE apparently has been interpreted by a majority of directors as a signal to forget they are in the business of serving the public. A little more public attention, for example, probably would have precluded the argument last week by one director that it was important to give district employees salary raises than to help the commuters.

The directors barely respond to the public even when it shows up, so they hardly can be blamed for ignoring it entirely when left to play alone like a gang of neglected brats.

THE LEGISLATURE, however, did not create the bridge board as a playground for little men to rant. The Legislature, after all, is supposed to do that for all of us.

Speaking of little men, we offer the chairman of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District an award for vindictiveness. Robert B. St. Clair, a San Mateo County supervisor, has appointed a nominating committee patently selected to prevent one of his critics from making the traditional move from secretary to vice chairman.

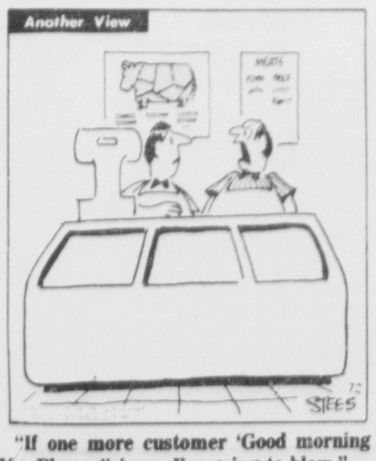
THE CRITIC, Mountain View City Councilman William R. Jelavich, long has led attacks on St. Clair and others on the board who almost invariably stand for the weakest common denominator when it comes to doing their job. They also comprise the narrow majority supporting the top administrator, D. J. Callaghan, long a target of complaints by citizen groups.

St. Clair took no chances. He appointed four of the truest friends he and Callaghan have on the 18-member board to be the nominating committee for new officers. In a characteristic flower of modesty, St. Clair also named himself to the committee — and made himself its chairman.

THE OTHER MEMBERS of the committee are San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, Benicia Mayor James Lemos, Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort and Clayton City Councilman Robert W. Hoyer.

Actually, it's rather amazing the air is as clean as it is around here.

MARIN ALTERNATIVE'S June edition of Voice carried a particularly honest appeal for newvolunteers to work on the publication. A box urged people to call retiring editor Madeleine Sloan, "who will never again edit the Voice."



"If one more customer 'Good morning Mr. Phase 4's' me, I'm going to blow."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Civic Center Design Was Serious Mistake

I received a copy of your editorial "Revenue Sharing With Talieson West" and as one who vociferously opposed Frank Lloyd Wright and his designs from his first visit to Marin I feel that after all these years I was not entirely on the wrong side.

We can only hope that someone in the future can show the way to rectify a serious mistake and the tax payers can find some relief.

Parking Meters Are Hazard To Shoppers

I mailed my check with the parking meter violation citation to the clerk of Municipal Court.

I would like to make a practical suggestion that would encourage more shopping in downtown San Rafael. I work downtown and have noticed that many businesses are slowing down, while a few have even closed their doors permanently. Wouldn't it be reasonable to assume that parking meters, with the added hazard of a possible citation are a deterrent to many shoppers who drive on out to Northgate to shop in "peace"?

People may sometimes feel they are being "penalized" for shopping in San Rafael. Not only did I put money in the meter to begin with, but made more purchases than I had intended to make (more dollars for San Rafael), and was subsequently penalized $2 further for the "privilege" of shopping locally.

I would greatly appreciate it if you could forward this letter to the Board of Supervisors and/or the City Council. Naturally they re concerned about keeping charming San Rafael "alive". There must be many people who, while they enjoy the "homey" shopping atmosphere of downtown, are tired of leaving a store where they had been making a purchase and chatting with a friendly clerk, only to find a pink slip waiting to greet them on the windshield!!

Don Keown Hailed For Unbiased Reporting

We were so pleased to see the very informative article by Don Keown in the first issue of Marin Living, particularly since this was a most straightforward account of a subject which could lend itself to a sensational presentation.

True Spiritualism quarrels with no religion and indeed adds insight and enlightenment to many who follow an orthodox, formal faith since the truths professed by the Science, Philosophy and Religion of Spiritualism can be found basically in all religions. Rev. Goodwin himself is widely known for his guest lectures on mediumship as it is expressed in the Bible.

And how wonderful to find an account of Mrs. Florence Becker who for more than half a century held services twice a week, many times to standing room only. President Lincoln held seances in the White House; Mrs. Becker was invited to the White House four times by President Franklin Roosevelt.

The Independent-Journal has very good coverage of religious news with a variety of articles covering the Vatican to the Christian Science Monitor, but to our knowledge the first on Spiritualism and we hail Don Keown for fair, unbiased reporting.

Why Expose His Past After Man Is Dead?

Your recent editorial on the subject of the death of a Marin County probation officer compels me to make some response. The editorial repeatedly asserts the value of hiring qualified probation officers with "unblemished records" — but precisely what that value is remains unclear, both in the editorial and in my own mind. It is possible, of course, that a person who has once been found guilty of a crime and has subsequently led a productive life, might be a source of inspiration for his probationers, rather than a source of corruption. It is also possible that Mr. Fouch's ability to supervise his probationers might have been totally unaffected by his own criminal case.

Secondly, I am appallaed at the repeated references in your newspaper (both in the news article and the editorial) to the fact that Mr. Fouch had been charged with a felony. His jury found him not guilty of the felony and guilty of a lesser offense, misdemeanor assault. The mentality which produces that emphasis on the felony charge is the same mentality which has produced the recent letters to the editor condemning the practice of releasing on bail those who have been accused (but not convicted) of crimes, and who are considered bad people. However "bad" the accused persons may seem to the police, or to the community, the fact remains that, under our system of criminal law, they are presumed to be innocent until proven guilty — just like every accused drunk driver. And under our law, every person accused of a crime (with strictly limited exceptions for those accused of certain formerly capital crimes in limited situations) is entitled to reasonable bail as a matter of right. This is for the simple reason that bail is, by law, required solely for the purpose of assuring that the accused will make his court appearances — not for the purpose of protecting society from people who are simply accused of crimes.

Finally, I would like to state that I am a criminal defense attorney who has practised in Marin for nearly three years; I knew Mr. Fouch slightly through occasional professional contact. I knew of his criminal conviction almost from the time he was hired, and it had no effect on his professional competence, insofar as I was able to observe it.

My concern is primarily with the climate in this country and this county which assumes that a person charged with a crime is necessarily guilty and not to be trusted in any position of responsibility; but I am also concerned that after a man is dead, his past is considered selectively newsworthy. I am sadly reminded of an obituary printed in your newspaper some time ago concerning a man who had been convicted of embezzlement many years before (a fact even his children did not know) and who had led a productive and blameless life in the interim, only to have his past exposed after his death. To the lasting profit of no one.

Nixon Was Warm To Brezhnev But Turns Cool Toward Agnew

There's a Nixon-Agnew chill. The President was not amused to read that Vice President Agnew had been telling a reporter how he would run things if Nixon resigned! Vice President Agnew expressed his usual confidence that the President was not involved in any cover-up despite John Dean's version. But any talk about resignation sets teeth on edge at the White House.

How it will all end Mr. Nixon's best friends cannot say. They note that his big drop in the opinion polls has stopped and they expect that the good results of the Brezhnev visit will turn his popularity rating upward.

NIXON EXPECTS to rebuild steadily, not dramatically. No single, tell-all television appearance is presently in the making. But the White House sees the President recovering the effectiveness of his leadership cumulatively — in these ways among others:

1—A harder working President than ever — providing evidence of things well done. The valuable fruits of the Brezhnev meetings comprise one example, namely, further negotiations toward a more peaceful world.

2—A PERIOD OF major concentration on domestic affairs: inflation, the economy, new measures to deal with the energy crisis and so forth.

3—A more open Administration, including press conferences and more cooperative relations with both parties in Congress.

4—A package of wide-ranging post-Watergate election reforms. In a word, President Nixon intends to keep busy at his work.

BREZHNEV GIVING up 'Brezhnev' doctrine? After Moscow dispatched the Red army to Prague in 1968 to force the Czech Communists to abandon their liberalizing reforms, Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev enunciated the "Soviet right" to use military force in any Communist country if its governing leadership pursued policies unsatisfactory to the Soviets.

Under the terms of the accord on avoiding war, which Brezhnev and President Nixon signed last week, there is a commitment against such military intervention. This could also be a deterrent to the use of Soviet troops and pilots in the Middle East. There are always ways to get around such generalized pledges, but it would be a violation of an agreement which did not exist before.

This may explain in part why Brezhnev has lately stressed how "difficult" it has been for the Kremlin to decide to pursue a course of detente with the West and why he characterizes it as "a radical departure."

PEKING SHUDDERS at Nixon-Brezhnev camaraderie. The Chinese can hardly be expected to relish the public bear-hugs and back-slapping between Brezhnev and Mr. Nixon as televised. They can read the fine print of all the agreements, protocols and communiques which issued from Washington and San Clemente, and they will find nothing directed against the People's Republic of China. But the Chinese are bound to be uneasy and even suspicious that the United States and Russia are getting too co-operative for Peking's comfort.

The official view here is that this will not impair U.S.-Chinese relations, that it will probably bring about a new top-level U.S.-Chinese meeting in the reasonably near future.

1973—YEAR OF few major strikes. Labor and management are coming to terms on new wage contracts more readily than usual. There is tough negotiation, but serious strikes have not developed this year and few are expected.

So far the new agreements have not, in the judgment of government economists, been significantly inflationary. Contracts have been accepted in rubber, oil, steel, electrical, women's apparel and other industries. They are described as "moderate" and within or very close to federal cost-of-living guidelines.

Cross Country Via Railroad Is Still Fun Way To Travel

FORT WAYNE, Inc. — As the Broadway Limited pulled out of the station, a couple in the club car was laughing hugely with a large woman in a red-white-and-blue pantsuit — until the large woman looked out and asked, "Where did you say you were going?"

At which the couple leaped up, the man expertly pulled the emergency brake, the train sighed loudly and halted, the couple disembarked and sprinted across the railroad yard.

EVERYBODY LAUGHED, and somebody suggested they probably did that every night because they live four blocks east of the station and don't want to walk all the way home. Then everybody stopped laughing, when they realized we already were falling late. But after about 10 minutes the train was rolling again (eventually to arrive in Washington at noon the next day, two hours behind the timetable).

From Amtrak's viewpoint, there are several flaws in that anecdote. Amtrak wants potential passengers to believe there is a lot of camaraderie aboard its trains, so that part is all right, if slightly misleading. But it does not want passers playfully tugging the emergency brake — it would have preferred that the couple wait till Lima, 59 miles farther along, and take the Broadway back west 23 hours and 50 minutes later.

IT DOES NOT want the general public to think its trains run late. And as the fiscal year ends, it does not want to spread the idea that all its trains run fully loaded, because this is when Amtrak feels it should chop four runs off the nation's already severely pruned rail passenger network, on the theory that they run light and lose too much money.

The details of Amtrak's curtailment plans and bills pending in Congress require inquiry in Washington. Without waiting, however, I can offer a passenger's field report on the federally subsidized corporation's operations. It comes near the end of an extensive rail trip around the country, on which I set out with the sincere hope of making train travel sound like fun again.

IN FACT, it is. If one is extremely patient in making reservations, not neurotic about punctuality and had plenty of time to get where he is going — once one gets aboard, long-distance train travel remains an experience at which every American should have a chance.

A surprising number already know that. I cannot comment on the Chicago-Florida route that Amtrak has suggested canceling, but on the Southern Railway's Southern Crescent and on Amtrak's Sunset Limited, Pacific Daylight, Pacific Starlight, Empire Builder and Broadway Limited, business seems fine. On this entire trip, I have not ridden a coach or Pullman that was less than half-full; most were near capacity.

AT EL PASO, I sat and watched the station agent tell dozens of people who arrived with tickets that they would not be able to go to Los Angeles that day because the agent back at San Antonio had sold out every seat on the Sunset. Having already bought tickets on that train, and since the next one was two days later, they were unahappy, and informed the agent of this.

In Portland, a station full of passengers headed north, including a schoolboy wrestling team destined for Japan. At Grand Forks at midnight, a station full waited to board for the Twin Cities and Chicago. At Chicago, hundreds swarmed through Union Station, coming and going aboard the James Whitcomb Riley, the George Washington, the Prairie State, the Abraham Lincoln, the Wolverine, the St. Clair.

THE NEARLY EMPTY Union Station in Washington, the nearly abandoned one in Danville, Va., turned out not to be typical everywhere. Architectural collectors' items had been torn down in many cities and replaced by miniature waiting rooms unknown to local cabdrivers. In the old stations still used, the restaurants, newsstands, bars and gift shops usually are closed. But the people are there.

One reason individual trains are busy is because so few of them remain, of course. Aboard them, service is in the old railroad tradition, food is at about the standard of a chain motel, equipment is cleaner than in the horrible years when the rail companies were intentionally discouraging business.

There are endless exceptions and additions to be noted, but, in sum, once you get through the reservations operator and then through the station, going by train is still a memorable way to see and feel America while crossing it.

Frank Egger May Be Eligible For Both City And State Pay

A conversation overheard at the June meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen led to some digging (investigative journalism, if you want to get high-faluting about it) that proves that politics and paychecks make strange bedfellows.

The chatter was to the point that Fairfax Town Councilman Frank J. Egger, long a foe of paying city councilmen, not only accepts his town paychecks, but also is seeking membership in the town employees' retirement system.

On Sept. 23, 1968, Egger and then councilman Adelaide P. Wilson were on the short end of the 3-2 vote that set up the $150 monthly salary for Fairfax council members. Egger protested that other town projects should have higher priority in the budget.

WHEN I PUT a direct question to town officials, I was told Egger has never refused his paycheck.

Earlier this year, Egger also asked whether his council service entitled him to join the town retirement system, administered by the state. Two fellow councilmen, Robert R. Souza and E. Ross Parkerson, already belong to the state pension plan — because Souza is a state employee and Parkerson works for Marin County.

Egger is a bread truck driver for a private bakery.

EGGER'S EXPLORATION of the pension question reached the point of an actuarial study that showed it would cost the public $750 as the town's share to establish Egger's pension eligibility retroactive to the time his council pay started in 1968.

But Egger's appointment to the North Central Coast Conservation Commission apparently cooled his quest for a pension as a town employee.

Section 22733 of the State Resources Code (the so-called Proposition 20 approved by the voters last year) provides pay of $50 a meeting for commissioners "who are not employees of other public agencies." The law puts no limit on the number of meetings a month for which the commissioner can be paid.

MICHAEL L. FISCHER, executive director of the North Central Coast commission, explained that his office in San Rafael simply sends a list of meetings his commissioners attend to the state coastal commission office in San Francisco.

The state commission in turn instructs the state controller's office in Sacramento to issue the check.

Fischer said he understood that city councilmen and county supervisors were exempted from the public-agency, no-pay provision because they're not fulltime employees of the public agency.

GENTRY DURHAM, assistant to Controller Houston I. Flournoy, confirmed this — and added that a ruling was issued by the state Attorney General in April, specifically holding that supervisors and city councilmen could be paid because "they're not employees, they're directors" of the public agencies.

So, Egger may be entitled to both his town pension plan and his coast commission paychecks. If and when the state catches up on paying, that is. The commission's held more than a dozen sessions to date, but no checks have been issued, Fischer reported.

SUPERVISOR MICHAEL Wornum, chairman of the regional commission, is on the state payroll — but only part-time as an instructor at the University of California. Commissioners Kenneth M. Stocking of Sonoma State College and Leonard Grote of Diablo Valley College are full-time college employees, and hence supposedly ineligible for commission pay though Fischer says that they work as hard as anyone else.

A bill now in the Legislature seeks to wipe out the inequity, Fischer said.

I wonder whether it'll ever make any difference. Egger may be retired and drawing that Fairfax pension before the state checks ever arrive.

Two Hospitalized In Accidents

Two persons were hospitalized overnight for observation after two separate accidents Saturday.

Susan Smith, 8, of 2072 Feliz Road, Novato, was in Novato General Hospital with lacerations and bruises received when she ran in front of a car at 4:33 p.m. on Simmons Lane south of Feliz Road. According to Novato police, she ran in front of a car driven by John T. O'Halloran, 44, of Danville, southbound on Simmons.

Georgia Lee Lewis, 26, of 967 Drake Avenue, Marin City, was held overnight for observation at Marin General Hospital. Her car hit a fire hydrant at Drake Avenue and Pacheco Street, Marin City about 5:35 p.m., according to the California Highway Patrol. She was unconscious in her car when patrolmen arrived, they reported.

U. S. Mania For Numbers Game Reduces Everyone To A Statistic

George went back to his graphs. He added up the nourished and the undernourished in China. They came to 103.5 per cent of the population. Fair enough. Things were supposed to be pretty rough out there. — Wilfrid Sheed, "Office Politics"

Poets never keep count. In war the enemy descends upon one like a cloud of locusts. In peace one flourishes like the lilies of the field. One's generations multiply like sands on the shore. Who needs statistics when a good metaphor is around? Big as a whale, quick as a flash. Check your yardsticks and your stopwatches at the door, you literalists.

STATISTICS ARE a comparatively recent invention. An English journalist named Harry Hopkins has dated them back to 1791, which, of course, is a statistic in itself. That year, as Mr. Hopkins summarizes things in "The Numbers Game" (Little, Brown, $7.95) a Scot named Sir John Sinclair, apparently under the influence of German scholarship, wrote "A Statistical Account of Scotland." What he was trying to establish — no Scotzish jokes, please — was "the quantum of happiness" in those hearts in the Highlands.

From here, as Mr. Hopkins sees it in his shrewd and skeptical study, there is a more or less straight line to Dr. George Gallup. The measuring mania was on.

A MAJOR INDUSTRY has kept Dr. Gallup's promise of running a "continuous audit" on the public. And this audit threatens to become a substitute for the reality it abstracts. One not only can't see the forest for the trees, one can't see the trees for the inventories of them: 9.1 per cent Norwegian spruce, and so on.

You pick up your Sunday paper —yes, the monster's still lying there. A survey of museums performs a nose count on U.S. and Canadian museums. There are, it seems, 6,657 of them, and it would take a conscientious museum-hopper 18 years to visit them all. So much for the subject of art.

ANOTHER PAGE, another set of statistics. Well, sir 1,439 gas stations are spot checked across the United States and 24 per cent of them are limiting their operating hours. (In case you can't find your slide rule, the figure comes to 345.36 gas stations.) Who needs to know more about the gasoline shortage?

Ubiquitous pollsters tell you how many Americans believe the President knew about Watergate or — if you prefer — how many Harvard men, class of '43, smoke cigarettes (about 1 in 5). The facts that pass as meaningful!

A MAN IS JUDGED as a boy by his IQ score; as an adult, by how much money he makes; and when it is time to retire, by his age. At which time the most important thing in his life is supposed to be his social security number.

And as if present statistics weren't enough, there are always future statistics, otherwise known as projections. Somebody, somewhere will be glad to tell you how many babies will be born in Yugoslavia in 1976, or the number of civilians who will be killed in, say, Los Angeles the first hypothetical day of hypothetical World War III.

WHAT DOES IT do to people to live in a universe which seems to have charts for walls and graphs on the ceilings? Is there a distortion of thought in presenting life, from first grade on, in terms of: How many apples does John have left if he sells a third of them to Debbie and one of them rolls under a bicycle (10-speed) and he started with 12?

The safety, the reassurance we feel at the drop of a statistic is eerie. We are being precise, we think — we are being scientific. How we long to make life exact and definable! Yet isn't there a profound inaccuracy to all this accuracy?

The final test may be: If you can feed life into a computer, something essential is missing. A something which has quality as well as quantity — which can taste bitter as almonds or sweet as honey. Well, imagine that. Back to the metaphor.

Council To Consider Tax On Construction

A proposed one-time tax on industrial and commercial building construction will be considered by the San Rafael City Council at 8 p.m. today in City Hall.

The proposed ordinance would impose a tax rate of five cents per square foot on industrial construction and 10 cents per square foot on commercial construction.

Such a tax would have raised approximately $52,000 during the past fiscal year, according to an estimate by the city staff. The new Sears store in Northgate alone would have paid almost $22,000, the staff noted in a recommendation that the ordinance be adopted.

City Mgr. William J. Bielser noted in a memorandum to the council that the city already levies a comparable tax of $75 per bedroom on residential construction. Such taxes, he wrote, are justified to compensate for existing city improvements and to offset city costs generated by development.

Also on the agenda is appointment to fill the vacancy created by the departure of Howard Levenson from the board of review. Armon Barsamian and Louis Milani have applied for appointment to the vacancy.

The council also will consider a recommendation by Bielser that 10-hour parking meters be installed on the upper deck of the Lootens Garage lot to replace all-day parking after the lot at Third and Lindaro streets is closed.

Shots Hit Homes In San Rafael

Two San Rafael homes were shot into Friday night. The residents were at home, but escaped injury.

According to police, the first shooting was at 9:20 p.m. when a bullet was fired through the wall of the home of John Joseph Crimmins of 33 Maple Hill Road. The .22 caliber bullet ricocheted off a wall and hit the bed. It was recovered.

Crimmins said he heard at least five shots. Police found two other holes in the upstairs of the house.

Then 20 minutes later, two shots were fired at the home of Ronald James Duncan at 5 Cresta Circle. One broke a $40 window and lodged in the ceiling. It also was a .22-caliber bullet, according to police.

Police were unable to locate where the second shot went.

Twisters

This could well become known as the Year of the Tornado. By the end of the first week in June, we were less than 180 short of the record 928 set in 1967. And the tornado season is just starting in some areas. The biggest number of storms ever recorded coming from a single storm occurred in late May. In only 120 hours, the storm spawned more then 200 tornadoes throughout the Southwest. While some people superstitiously blame moon shots and the like for the tornadoes and bad weather, the National Weather Service credits an unusually strong jet stream for the record crop of twisters.

DO YOU KNOW — In the northern hemisphere, which way does a tornado rotate?

Handicapped Child Workshop Is Slated

By JOAN LISETOR

Dr. Walter J. Rollin, director of the Center for Communication Therapies in San Rafael, is conducting a workshop July 14 for parents of handicapped children.

There are adjustment problems between parents and children in all families, Dr. Rollin said. In his workshop he will discuss these "normal" problems and then concentrate on the effects of the handicapped child on the parents.

"Time is such a problem since the child must be driven so many places, especially doctors' appointments," he said, "and usually it is the mother who is tied down and begins to feel anger. Then she feels guilty because of her anger. Parents should share the burden, make it 50-50."

Encouraging the parents to discuss their problems is a major purpose of the workshop, he said.

"I will attempt to have them reach a level of communication, not to solve their problems," he explained.

What he is doing is not new, but in the field of speech pathology it is an untapped area, Dr. Rollin said.

He is working on two levels as a speech pathologist, helping patients to express inner feelings and also to get the actual words out. The two are interrelated, although speech therapy has gone far beyond the teaching of elocution, he said.

Dr. Rollin is a former president of the Northern California Region Speech and Hearing Association. Originally from New York City, he has lived in Marin for six years, since joining the staff of California State University, San Francisco, where he is a professor of special education. He is a graduate of Queens College in New York and has master's degrees from the University of Pittsburg in speech pathology and clinical psychology and a Ph. D. from Wayne State University.

Other workshops planned for the recently opened center are in the areas of family, marriage and divorce adjustment. He will handle the communication problem and bring in others competent in the fields for these sessions.

A six-week workshop for speech therapists in training will begin tomorrow at the center, which is located at 530 Third Street in San Rafael.

SOLEDAD PRISON TRIP

Dancers Will Give Up The Fourth To Entertain

While many families will be spending a leisurely Fourth of July at home or at the beach, five young women dancers from Marin and Sonoma Counties will be entertaining the inmates at Soledad State Prison.

The five, Terrie Brown and Tanya Barnes of Cotati, Dawn Patry of Mill Valley, Sharon Newby of San Rafael and Choreographer Linda Watson of Cotati, are members of the Bellrose-Watson Dance Theater.

The company is composed of 10 young dancers, the youngest 10 years old, but because of a state law, only those 18 and above will be traveling to Soledad Wednesday.

Miss Watson said the company performs a "strictly classical modern dance" program using their own mixture of modern jazz and soul. Some of the music the performers will use includes selections from Bill Winters, Ramsey Lewis and "Shaft."

Their performance, which had been previously scheduled for May but cancelled because of security problems, will also include vocalist Susie Battle singing a number of songs from the movie "Lady Sings the Blues" and Gloria Alee, a poet who will recite some of her work.

The dancers will be part of the Fourth of July program at the prison that will include many top rock music names including Country Joe McDonald and Azteca, said Miss Watson. "We're the only dancers and we may possibly perform on an outdoor stage," she added.

The company had queried Soledad, San Quentin, Vacaville and Folsom prisons earlier this year, said Miss Watson, but San Quentin booked their performers a year in advance, Vacaville didn't answer and Folsom, they discovered, was a maximum detention center.

"None of the performers are paid," said Miss Watson of their dance programs. "We perform because we enjoy it and we love the audience. We're all hams."

Miss Watson, who has been with the Bellrose Studio in San Rafael for 12 years and who has taught there for seven, credits Margie Bellrose with much of their enthusiasm. "She gives us free run of her studio and music," she said.

The performers are invited to join the company from the dance classes, she explained. "There's so much talent there that it is a waste just to take classes when they should be performing."

In addition to their upcoming Soledad performance, the group has danced at the Marin Art and Garden Show for the past two years, the high schools in Marin, hospitals and fashion shows.

And Miss Watson added they're even good at getting things together at the last minute.

"I'm not a choreographer and a teacher," she said, "I improvise and the rest follow the whole number within an hour."

Sweaters Will Be Featured In Fall From Foot To Fanny

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fall 1973 has its sweater girls all over the fashion scene, but the contemporary sweater look is a far cry from the days when Lana Turner made the tight pullover her trademark.

The new sweaters in most cases aren't clingy. The whole scheme is the loose, casual pullons or buttoned or the cardigan. And they don't stop at being sweaters.

Fall collections from New York designers-manufacturers are full of the sweater look — sweaters paired with skirts and jackets, sweaters elongated into daytime or evening dresses, just stretched-out versions of the classics.

Some of the best sweater combos come from the firm of Pierre Cardin and Andre Oliver, who designs the Cardin U.S. wholesale collection.

OUTSTANDING ARE his exaggerated turtle necks, looking something like a neck brace from an orthopedic ward. Cardin pairs them handsomely under tunic dresses and jumpers, some in wool, some in leather.

If you skipped the sweaters, you could substitute blouses, or in some instances turn the garments into dinner dresses simply by wearing the jumpers only.

Cardin carries the knit look right to hats designed for the firm by Adolfo. They are stocking-like head huggers, replete with pom-pons at the crown.

LOOK FOR sweater jackets in every possible variation on the Mexican shawl collar, the bulky fisherman knits, the equally bulky mohairs and jacquards.

Watch for coat length sweaters, some reversing to different colors, some trimmed with fluffy fox fur dyed to match. And there is the fanny sweater, promising to be what the trade calls a Ford (best seller).

This particular style is elongated to cover just what it says—and stop there.

The message for evening, just as glittering as the one for day, is casual.

There are sequined dresses, both long and short, in a multitude of colors from off-white and silver to jet black and brown.

Geoffrey Beene proves one of the masters of the sequined dress, both with whimsy and with color combinations.

SEQUINS IN several colors form huge fans on basic navy or black long dinner dresses. And he works out other light and dark combinations, as in one with shades of cream, pale turquoise and brown.

Evening pants continue to be popular. Designers show them in satin in black or bright shades, and in patterns from floral to block print.

Back full force are the short evening dresses, in black jersey or crepe, and in the case of the Beene collection, in silvery gray lurex done like the flapper dresses of the 1920s.

Another rerun—the strapless dress. It shows both short and long in sweater fabrics, glittery knits, matte jerseys and satins.

Lee Pharis Married To Steven J. Stocks

The Church of St. Isabella's in San Rafael was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding of Lee Pharis and Steven J. Stocks.

Lee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Pharis of San Rafael. Her sister Kay Pharis of San Rafael was the maid of honor.

The bride was graduated from Terra Linda High School and attended Dominican College. She is planning to transfer to California State University, Chico.

She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Edith Pharis of DeQuincy, La. and Mrs. Margaret Ballard of Vidor, Texas. She has one other sister, Mrs. Diane Lafrenz of San Rafael.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Stocks of San Rafael. His brother Peter Stocks was best man and Andrew Lafrenz was the usher at the wedding.

Steven was also graduated from Terra Linda High School and attended California State University, Chico. He is currently employed with California Sales in San Francisco.

He is the brother of Debbie Stocks of El Granada and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Stocks of St. Louis, Mo. and Mrs. Allen Larkins of Kentfield.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Liberation Seems To Encourage Downward, Not Upward Change

DEAR HELEN:

Women's Liberation is supposed to raise consciousness, but instead young girls are "liberating" themselves downward to men's laboring jobs: telephone and electric line "men," bus "boys," carry-out "boys" in supermarkets, stock clerks, truck drivers, clean-up "men" in factories . . .

I see little rise in the number of women doctors, lawyers, engineers, business executives, politicians. In fact, some of these professions are losing in percentages of female members.

Could "liberation" tend to push more women into menial back-work? In a misguided effort ot prove equality, some girls sneer at "female jobs" such as nursing, teaching, typing, hostessing, etc. Aren't they settling for considerably less? And only on the way to the alter?

I read that the percentage of girls going on to college has decreased in recent years. Isn't it true that the majority still dream of marriage as their ultimate goal, while men are dreaming of careers? — SAD OBSERVER

DEAR SAD:

Let's put it this way: the majority of women are still dreaming of marriage as one of their ultimate goals, but most modern girls also develop working skills. They realize they will be employed at least part of their lives. If they choose truck driving over secretarial work, why ctiticize? It may be more interesting and, for sure, it pays better.

Another thing: some of those bus-and carry-out girls are college students earning their way toward good careers.

Over the next two decades, I think we'll see a vast increase in numbers of women in professions — and this includes politics, where we're tremendously needed! Hope you'll soon agree. — H.

P.S. Here's a thought which may not have occurred to some of you career women: Liberation's concern for the "downtrodden female" is great, but you are getting there faster because you have less competition.

Example: the powers decide they must have a few women in high positions to counteract the charge of "chauvinism." You are ambitious, eager, and ready — so you're chosen. You stand out because so far, there aren't many women to match you. But when the majority reach their potential, the scramble will begin, just as it has among men.

Enjoy your opportunities while you may, Ms. Career-America, because pretty soon the pack will be yapping at your heels. You must prove yourself doubly to men now, but that isn't nearly so hard as proving you're better than dozens of other fully trained and competent women. — H.

DEAR HELEN

Your readers have been so tremendously helpful in getting hospital equipment through their donation of Betty Crocker coupons.

Could I ask for their good will and generosity on our Tay Sachs Disease prevention program? This is a fatal disease affecting the nervous system of infants.

Southview Chapter No. 1103, B'Nai B'Rith Women of Torrance, Calif., is collecting Betty Crocker coupons for the equipment needed to get a search program on Tay Sachs Disease at Harbor General Hospital (UCLA Medical Center). We have several doctors concerned, but no funds for the necessary machinery.

We need four million coupons within a year — a seemingly hopeless project, but perhaps with your readers' help, we may get them.

Please, if anyone has extra Betty Crocker coupons, would you sent them to: Jeanette W. Ray, 514 South Francisca Ave., Redondo Beach, Calif., 90277.

Thank you. — PUBLIC AFFAIRS CHAIRMAN

MONEY MATTERS

Start Looking At College Early

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Have you begun to think about a college education for your child — and how you are going to pay for it?

If that youngster is now a high school junior, you haven't a moment to lose.

The cost of education is rising, along with everything else, and it is wise to strike before the iron gets any hotter. It will take time to select the right college for your son or daughter at the right price for your purse.

"You can't wait until the senior year," warns high school guidance counselor Tucker Winn at Robinson High School in Fairfax, Va. "If you do, you may fail to meet the necessary deadlines. Start in your junior year," she advises students and parents, "to select the college or colleges, to which you will apply."

Counselor Winn is considered by educators as one of the top-ranking authorities in her field.

THE BEST "buy," money-wise, today is usually found at state colleges and community colleges. The institutions are subsidized by state funds, making lower tuition fees possible.

Even so, many families must still look for some form of financial aid in this costly and extremely important investment. Don't leave a source untapped in your search for funds.

Investigate the education loans and grants which are offered by the federal government. Many states also provide education aid. Scholarships or other education awards are given by many civic organizations, business firms, women's clubs, etc. Some of these may be available in your own community.

The federal government currently has one education grant program and another which will be available next fall.

In addition, there are two student loan programs:

The National Direct Student Loan program. Under it, an eligible student may borrow up to $2,500 from the government during his first two years in college. For the two remaining years, he may borrow up to $5,000. If he continues as a graduate student, he may borrow up to $10,000.

The Guaranteed Student Loan Program. It provides that the student may borrow up to $2,500 an academic year, and up to $10,000 if he goes on to graduate study.

IT DIFFERS from the other loan program in that the student borrows directly from a bank, credit union, savings and loan association or other participating lender.

These loans are not limited to those in desperate financial straits. Anyone may apply for them. They are negotiated directly with the commercial lending institution.

The fact that they are government-guaranteed naturally makes them easier to obtain. The student pays the interest (7 per cent) on these loans while in college unless he is not financially able to do so.

If not, the government will take over the payments. But he is required to furnish proof of need for this assistance.

Some 20,000 commercial lending institutions participate in the Guaranteed Student Loan program. Officials from these institutions often visit campuses to explain the terms of loans and how to apply for them.

UPON GRADUATION, the student must, within a year, begin to pay off loans obtained under either loan program, including interest.

As to government grants, the current program is known as Educational Opportunity Grants. A qualified student may obtain grants up to $1,000 a year for four years of undergraduate study.

Terms of the new program os Basic Educational Opportunity Grants will be announced early in July. Fact sheets and brochures will be issued by the United States Office of Ecucation and made available in high schools and colleges. They will be placed also in public places such as local post offices. Watch for this information and apply early, if interested.

In all cases where financial aid by the federal government is requested, proof of need must be furnished. This must be set forth in a confidential financial stateent by parents to be submitted to the financial aid officer of the college or university to which the student has applied.

High school guidance counselors have the answers to most of your questions. The financial aid officer at the college in which you hope to enroll is another invaluable source of information and help.

Visit campuses. Size up the college of university; get the "feel" of it. Talk to the people there. Inquire, for instance, as to any possibility of tuition increases after the student's entry into the college. Some colleges guarantee the same fee for the four-year period, but by no means all of them. Above all, don't be afraid to ask questions — a lot of questions.

Counting The Hand Eliminates Guesswork — All The Difference

What this country needs is not a cigar (at any price) but a sure-fire way to guess which opponent has a missing key card. While you're waiting for the Patent Office to announce such an invention, try counting up to 13. It may make all the difference between the poorhouse and a condominium.

TOP HEARTS

West took the top hearts and led a third heart when East signaled for a continuation by playing the eight first and then the six of hearts.

After ruffing high in the dummy, declarer's only problem was to find the queen of clubs. If West had the queen, South could lead a club from his hand and finesse with dummy's ten. If East had the queen, declarer could lead a club from the dummy and finesse with his own jack.

How could he find out?

COUNTING IS KEY

Declarer solves his problem without guessing. He drew two rounds of trumps, took dummy's top spades, discarding a low club and ruffed a spade. Then he entered dummy with a trump and ruffed another low spade.

After the second spade ruff, South sat back in his chair and counted. East had shown up with exactly four spades, two hearts and two diamonds. The other five cards in his original hand had to be clubs. If East had started with five clubs, West must have started with only one.

SOUTH'S PLAY

Having reached this sound conclusion, South led a club to dummy's king to capture West's singleton, whatever it might be. It was then perfectly safe to lead a club back and finesse with the jack. The finesse was sure to win, since West could not have another club.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - Q 10 7 4
♥ - A K J 9 5 2
♦ - 7 5
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one heart or pass.

This is a borderline hand, and many experts would prefer to pass unless the spades were headed by the king rather than by the queen. Other experts would open the hand despite the lack of defensive strength usually promised by an opening bid.

Local Historians Have Field Day

LONDON (UPI) — Local historians had a field day when a reorganization of local government units required new names for 296 new districts.

Some new names, which became official this spring, are descriptive—Three Rivers, for instance. But Restormel, the new name of a district in Cornwall, is the name of a 700- year-old castle and Wansdyke, new title for a district near Stratford, is the name of a road which crossed southwest England before the Romans came.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Mind your manners! Is this the correct way to address your best wishes to celebrated people born today? Answer "Yes" or "No."

1. HIS MAJESTY will receive your greetings at the Royal Palace, Oslo, Norway. But is that the way to address King Olav V of Norway? He is 70 today. Because his father lived to the age of 85, he did not come to the throne himself until age 54. He is the son of King Haakon VII of Norway and Queen Maud, daughter of England's King Edward VII.

2. HIS EXCELLENCY is a former U.S. ambassador, appointed to London by President Truman. Would Lewis Douglas be entitled were he serving there now? Born 79 years ago in Bisbee, Ariz. he was studying at MIT when World War I broke out. After fighting in France, he entered politics, was appointed Director of the Budget under Roosevelt, has served government and business since.

3. YOUR HONOR could be the way to address U.S. Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall. But is it? On his 54th birthday he can look back on a career which took him from a grocery clerk to one of America's highest offices. Born in Baltimore, Md. he studied law, then represented the NAACP in civil rights cases, winning 29 out of 32. President Johnson made him the first Negro justice.

4. HI, DICK! Yes, some might shout that at Rowan, 51 today, recognizing him as part of "Rowan and Martin," stars of NBC-TV's popular "Laugh-In." Born in Beggs, Okla., he was orphaned at 11 and reared in a Colorado home for children. He met Martin at a party in Hollywood, worked up a comedy act — and you know the rest.

ANSWERS: 1 - Yes (Fully, it is "His Most Gracious Majesty); 2 - Yes (very proper); 3 - No (Say "Mr. Justice"); 4 - No (It's "Hi, Dan" for Dan Rowan).

ALL-MEDIA SHOW — Dede Sievers' brightly-colored painting resembling a pictograph, presents elephants, parakeets, hybrid fish-planes, seed-pods, and pinwheels in a myriad jigsaw-puzzle arrangement. Humourously pleasing, and challenging to the eye, the painting, entitled "Melting Glyphics" is included in the Marin Society of Artists' current exhibit at the Art and Garden Center in Ross.

ART REVIEW

By ADA GARFINKEL

The Marin Society of Artists "All Media Show" greeted visitors at the entrance gates to the Art and Garden Center with 20 colorful banners which highlighted the weekend's annual "Marin In Bloom Festival."

Within the society's gallery, and continuing through July 22, there is also a crisp and nicely varied distillation of visual experiences.

One's eye is immediately drawn to Barbara Pierce's painting entitled "Fenced Corner Lot," (which received a cash award) in which the intense heat of day seems to be contained within an airless vacuum.

Heat is also the essence of Tony Williams' "Poema-3" with its imperceptibly graded orange stripes alternately focusing on a lavender and soft-umber grid, and deriving its title from Spanish literature.

And the dramatic interaction of the sun and earth is handsomely portrayed by Fred Herschleb in abstracted forms in a stylized watercolor appropriately entitled "Sources."

Pointing the way in all directions, Mary Bowles' revolving cupid-weathervane, a stabile created of steel, bronze, and copper (with green-patina wings) seems strangely out of place on its slender metal rod and tiny floor base instead of on a stalwart roof!

On the other hand, Anne Osgood's multi-sectioned fetish entitled "The Earth is Our Mother," hangs jauntily from the gallery ceiling, and Gayle Luchessa's teasingly slender "Portrait" — a basketry-woven, inverted cornucopia in a totemic vein — appears rooted to the gallery floor.

Interesting embellishments on the landscape theme were offered by a number of artists. "Sea Foam, Kauai," a watercolor by Marilyn Lawrence, for example, creates an image of airy, cascading bubbles moving into and across a warm stretch of sand.

And Phyllis Taplitz' handsome woodcut entitled "Portal," reflects a double mountain-and-water scene within a circle, while Else Gonella's "growing greens" is a dreamy abstraction of rock forms, and Hazel Stitt's "Rossio Square" is a vibrant, John Marin-like vignette.

Other works of special interest are Ned Mueller's "Navajo Spring," Eleanor Elsocht's "Flower Man," Suzanne Gomberg's archetypal "Brothers," Joan Emerson's tapestry-like batik "Still Life," Hilda Kaster's wood, cork, and bamboo "Collage," and Ken Potter's "Leading Ramp."

And for a touch of whimsy, Dorothy Arons', "Patch'n Stitch," and Pat Andrew's "Rosie," both in acrylic.

Merit awards were presented to Fred Herschleb, Ursula Johnson, Diane Leach, Gayle Luchessa, Anne Osgood, and Tony Williams.

Viewing hours at the gallery are from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. daily except holidays.

Tiburon's Budget Is Considered

Tiburon City Councilmen reviewed parts of the proposed 1973-74 city budget at a special meeting Saturday, and set another special meeting for 7:30 p.m. July 16 in City Hall to complete their budget review.

According to City Manager Bert A. Balmer, the council discussed but took no action on the police and planning budgets, and capital outlay for park development. Scheduled discussions on city salary and benefits proposals were put off to the July 16 session, Balmer said.

The proposed budget totals $2,432,489, a record for the city.

Russian Visit

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin left today for a three-day official visit to Austria, the first by a Soviet leader in 13 years.

Band Will Present Summer Concert

The College of Marin Community Band will present the first of its outdoor summer concerts at 4 p.m. on Sunday on the main campus mall near the Fine Arts Building of the Kentfield campus.

The band, conducted by John H. Myers, will play light classics, pops and marches. The concert will open the band's 12th season.

Orchestra Piccola A Smash

SPOLETO, Italy (UPI) — The teen-age Orchestra Piccola of Marin County, Calif., last nght became the first amateur group to perform at the Festival of Two Worlds and won two standing ovations from a capacity audience.

"It was fantastic," Mrs. Audrey Jarach, an adviser to the orchestra, said. "First of all we were sold out, which was a pleasant shock, and then I've never heard the kids play better."

The standing ovations came for the string ensemble's performance of Ernest Block's Concerto Grosso No. 1 and for Fran Martin's Symphonie Concertante, which ended the concert.

The orchestra, made up of 21 girls and six boys 14 to 18 years old, was invited to play at the 16th Spoleto Festival by its director, composer Gian Carlo Menotti, after he heard its only recording.

"Barry Boland, who founded the Orchestra Piccola, said before he died, 'These kids are so great, I want them to be heard,'" Mrs. Jarach said. "And this is our memorial to him."

En route to Spoleto the Orchestra gave two concerts in Florence and one in Rome.

"But tonight was even better," Mrs. Jarach said.

For the concert in the 250-seat Caio Meiliso, the orchestra performed:

Vivaldi's Eco Concerto with Dan Smiley, 17; Terrie Baune, 15, and Leslie Tompkins, 16, as violin soloists; Hindemith's Five Pieces for String orchestra; Marcello's Oboe Concerto with Tenny Sperry, 16, as Oboist; the Block with Eveyln Lust, 15, and her sister, Eliane, 16. Tom Macfarlane, 16 and Briget Conrad, 14, as piano soloists; Bach's E Major Violin Concerto with Carol Tomlinson, 18, as soloist; and the Martin with Sheila Colwell, 16, as harpist, Evelyn Lust on the harpischord and Eliane Lust as piano soloist.

Italian conductor Marco Chiesa replaced the orchestra's director, Hugo Rinaldi, for the Block.

"It was amazing how well the orchestra reponded to him," Mrs. Jarach said.

She said the group has also been asked to play the night of July 6 in the Mozart Marathon.

Sanitary District Funds Discussed

Corte Madera Sanitary District commissioners held a special meeting Saturday to discuss the district's proposed capital outlay budget for 1973-74 with the Town Council's public works committee men, Mayor Holmes S. Norville and Edward W. Colthurst.

Colthurst said no action was taken, and the district's budget will be reviewed by the council on Thursday. The councilmen decided against holding a special budget session tonight on the sanitary district, although it had been requested last week by the commission, Colthurst said.

Planner Meeting

The proposed Larkspur general plan will be considered at a special meeting of the city's planning commission at 7:30 p.m. today in City Hall.

MUSIC REVIEW

Quality, Imagination At Concert Series Opening

By VERA M. OLMSTED

Imaginative programming auspiciously inaugurated Dominican College's new Forest Meadows Summer Concert series yesterday afternoon in the rustic charm of the college's outdoor amphitheater.

This was the first of three July programs planned by the Dominican Department of Music, under the direction of Dr. Ted Blair, and devoted to little-performed music of the 19th Century.

Yesterday's concert, "An Operatic Afternoon with Franz Liszt," featured arias and ensembles from various operas, followed by Liszt's piano transcriptions of these same works.

The audience of more than 150 persons came with picnic baskets and small children, ready to listen to a concert in the forest. The stage area, reached by bridges over a flower-strewn pond, was backed by a new acoustic shell, and umbrellas on stage protected the performers and the grand piano from the warm summer sun (although as the afternoon wore on the shifting sun's rays caused some slight discomfort, taken in good-humored stride by the singers.)

The operatic selections were the most successful and enjoyable part of the program because of the consistently high quality of the vocalists and the evident rapport of the singers with one another and with their accompanist, Ted Blair.

Soprano Mildred Owen's full, rich voice was heard to good advantage in the "Libestod" from Richard Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde," conveying the essential passion and ecstasy of Isolde's death.

Pianist Steve Warzycki then played the Liszt piano transcription "Isoldens Libestod," which follows the original very closely. Liszt wrote over forty piano transcriptions of operas during his lifetime. These transcriptions were extremely popular with audiences, even more popular than his own original compositions, and provided him with a good part of his income.

Liszt's transcriptions are rarely played today but are well worth hearing, both as a means of recapturing the flavor of the virtuosic, romantic pianism of a former era, and for the masterful way Liszt transfers orchestral effects to the piano. As a whole, the piano interpretations yesterday could have used more bravura spirit, humor and precision.

In the famous quartet from the last act of Verdi's opera "Rigoletto" the four vocalists combined brilliant singing with fine characterizations of the protagonists. Steve Covington's warm and lilting tenor voice admirably captured the seductive quality of the amorous duke.

Mary Birt played the virtuosic keyboard fireworks of "Rigoletto: Paraphrase de concert" strongly and securely, gliding easily over the runs and arpeggios.

The duet "La ci darem la mano" from Mozart's opera "Don Giovanni" gave soprano Gwen Curatilo, as the delicious and innocent Zerlina, and baritone Marvin Klebe, as the virile and passionate Don Giovanni, a chance to show off their dramatic skill and fine voices.

Bob Hagopian, pianist, handled well the long and difficult "Reminiscences de Don Juan," which in good part consists of variations on the "La ci darem" duet.

The sextet at the end of the second act of "Lucia di Lammermoor" by Donizetti is another famous ensemble piece, and Miss Curtilo, Miss Owen, Covington and Klebe were joined by tenor Martin Frick and bass Clay Roni. This sextet was beautifully executed, the ensemble well balanced throughout. Miss Curatilo's soaring voice was particularly effective.

"Reminiscences de Lucia di Lammermoor" is the transcription based principally on the sextet and was performed by Hagopian at the piano.

The last opera represented was "Norma" by Bellini. Miss Curatilo and Miss Owen sang the duet "Deh! con te li prendi" from the second act. Their two voices blended and balanced beautifully, always together in expressiveness, particularly in the pianissimo sections.

Warzycki played the accompanying transcription "Reminiscences de Norma," carefully bringing out the melodic themes from the fabric of the piece.

Mention should be made of Ted Blair, who accompanied the singers with sensitivity and style.

The program on July 8 will feature 19th century chamber music by Glinka, Spohr, Saint-Saens and D'Indy.

He lives at 340 Bretano Way.

Probe Said Vital Of POW Actions

DALLAS (UPI) — A Navy captain held 7 ½ years as a North Vietnamese prisoner of war said yesterday the military must investigate charges of misconduct against other former POWs.

Capt. Howard Rutledge, 44, of San Diego, Calif., said unless the military investigates these charges "We could have Americans killing Americans if another war comes and we have men captured."

Misconduct and collaboration with the enemy charges have been filed against eight enlisted men and two officers who were held in Vietnam. One of those charged, Marine Sgt. Abel Larry Kavanaugh, 24, shot and killed himself last week in Colorado and officials have indicated it was a suicide.

LIQUID FURY — To understand the extent of the tremendous power unleashed as the flooding Winooski River thunders over this dam in Vermont, notice the man (arrow) standing on the platform at lower right. This was the situation yesterday as a state of emergency was in effect in Vermont and New Hampshire. Rain swollen rivers have been spilling over their banks, causing millions of dollars of damage. Eight persons have been killed.

New England Flooding Continues

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI) — Fresh flood warnings were posted today along rain-swollen rivers in Vermont and New Hampshire where hundreds of persons were driven from their homes over the weekend.

At least eight persons were reported dead and property damage was estimated in the millions of dollars. Three other persons were missing or drowned in Massachusetts.

The National Weather Service issued new flood warnings along the Connecticut River between Vermont and New Hampshire after another downpour last night halted the receding flood waters and threatened to send the river back over its banks.

Warnings were also out along the Pemiwegassett River in north central New Hampshire and the Androscoggin River in southwestern Maine.

Police in Hanover, N.H., said the Connecticut River was rising at the rate of two inches an hour late Sunday night. The weather service said the rain was expected to taper off early today.

Seven persons drowned in separate accidents and another man died of an apparent heart attack conducting traffic in the deluged community of Cavendish, Vt., after nearly 72 hours of constant rain burst river banks Saturday.

The worst damage occurred in Vermont where the state highway department said the flood had caused at least $10 million in damage to roads alone. Gov. Thomas Salmon toured the state by helicopter and said it looked "like a series of islands."

A spokesman for the state Civil Defense said there was "extensive damage on all main highways. As for back dirt roads, they just aren't there.'

Hundreds of National Guard troops were ordered out in both states to evacuate homes and help reopen roads.

An estimated 500 persons were left temporarily homeless in Vermont and more than 150 others in New Hampshire.

Salmon held an emergency meeting with state and federal officials yesterday and said he would ask President Nixon to declare the state a disaster area. It was the worst flooding since 1927, he said.

Harley Taken

In Ludlow, Vt., a section of the General Electric Co. plant fell into the Black River. The Winooski River sent waist-deep water swirling down the streets of Montpelier, the state capital. UPI's Montpelier bureau was evacuated after water poured into the office.

In Westmoreland, N.H., on the Connecticut River, townspeople used family cars to rescue 46 persons from the Cheshire County Home for the aged.

In Plymouth, along the Pemiwegassett River, signs atop gasoline stations were barely above the water.

Mrs. Leroy Bixby of Plymouth and her family were away from home when the flood hit. "We were over to Rumney for a wedding. We had to drive back along the railroad tracks. That was the only way out of town. Those road beds really hold up," she said.

Man Injured In Fire Dies In Hospital

A 79-year-old Greenbrae man who suffered smoke inhalation and shock in a fire Friday which took the life of his wife, died Saturday at Ross General Hospital.

Edward G. DeLong seemed to be recovering when his heart stopped, his doctor told the coroner's office.

DeLong, who operated DeLong's Drugstore in the county for many years, had escaped from his blazing home at 179 Corte Ramon in the Greenbrae section of Larkspur by the time firemen arrived at the fire shortly after midnight.

His wife, Viola C. DeLong, 74, died while attempting to escape.

Larkspur firemen today said the blaze apparently started when Mrs. DeLong fell asleep while smoking in bed.

DeLong's survivors include a daughter, Madaline Klosky of Fremont.

Ship's Officers Charged With Smuggling Booze

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Customs officials yesterday seized 293 cases of assorted whiskeys from a ship and charged the captain and chief engineer with smuggling.

The liquor, valued at $20,000, was taken from the Cabo Orange, a Brazilian registered steamship, at Pier 32. The ship was seized and the liquor confiscated.

Charged with smuggling were Capt. Hose Bietriech and chief engineer Waldyr Norys.

The liquor was not on the ship's manifest and was found in the aft end of the vessel after crewmen were observed selling liquor by the case both here and in Los Angeles where the ship last stopped.

More San Quentin Stabbings, 3 Hurt

Three convicts were stabbed at San Quentin Prison Saturday, but prison officials said today that after questioning several inmates they still had no suspect in the attacks.

Guards confiscated seven homemade knives and four puncture instruments after the stabbings, which brought to 28 the number of such incidents at the prison this year, including one death.

All three victims are Caucasians and investigators suspect that a racial dispute motivated the attacks, a prison spokesman said.

The most seriously injured, Ronald S. Peterson, 26, of Ventura County, serving six months to 15 years for narcotics possession, was reported in satisfactory condition today. He was stabbed several times in the chest, face and neck and two of his teeth were knocked out.

Thomas Gregory, 34, of San Francisco County, serving a life term for assault on a state officer, received superficial chest wounds.

Lloyd C. Rommel, 33, of Fresno, serving six months to 10 years for narcotics possession, suffered superficial wounds of the chest and right arm.

The stabbings occurred at about 3 p.m. Saturday in the prison's east block. From 200 to 300 inmates were waiting for the 3 p.m. head count, but investigators said they have been unable to find anyone willing to admit seeing the knifings, according to William D. Nyberg, information officer.

Nyberg said two convicts were placed in a segregated cell after a knife was seen being thrown from their cell, but they are not considered primary suspects in Saturday's attacks.

Redevelopment Boundaries Will Be Considered

The Tiburon Planning Commission will try again to set boundaries for a downtown redevelopment project area when it meets tonight at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

According to Richard G. Arjo, Director of Community Development, the commission has debated for several meetings whether to make the boundaries limited or broad; or whether to have any boundaries at all.

The commission will also review proposed changes in zoning ordinances. One would make it easier for owners of homes which do not conform to zoning to add on to their residences. The other would require landscaping maintenance bonds for single family homes.

Also on the agenda are plans of developer Fred G. Zelinsky to move some houses from the vicinity of 88 Main Street to make room for a new office.

Turning south, one could see the same dirt being used as fill for the Olive Avenue overpass construction (top right). The De Long Street overpass, which opened last week, is the second phase of the $13 million project to be completed — a northbound stretch of highway north of Novato opened earlier last week. The entire project is scheduled for completion next summer.

Man Arrested After Claiming He Set Fire

San Rafael police arrested a Miami man on suspicion of arson Saturday after he claimed responsibility for setting a fire Friday that gutted a home in Bayside Acres just outside city limits.

Stephen Eugene Arnold, 22, was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $5,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said Arnold claimed responsibility for the fire with a declaration that owner Florence Brown "deserved it". She lives on the grounds in a newer residence at 31 Manzanita Avenue, behind the home which burned.

Dep. Dist. Atty. Raymond E. Gilbert said today the incident is the latest in a series of events that have occurred at the site, which is surrounded by a high fence and occupied by about a dozen dogs. Florence Brown, he said, is one of "at least 18 aliases" used by the landowner, and said she has been involved in a number of bizarre activities including putting a hex on a sheriff's deputy, ordering a hearse to take away a neighbor who had not died, and ordering gravel and cement dumped on her property.

Police, who today were transcribing a lengthy report by Arnold on the incident, said they did not know whether or not he rented the residence set afire, or had other dealings with the woman.

Some snakes have been known to live one to two years without food by absorbing the fat of their own bodies.

Mild Earthquake Hits Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A mild earthquake today rattled dishes but apparently caused no damage.

The quake occurred at 8:48 a.m. and had a preliminary reading of 2.4 on the Richter Scale, according to the Seismology Laboratory at Caltech in Pasadena, which said it was centered in the Hollywood area.

The tremor was felt as far away as Culver City where it was described by one resident as a "very little earthquake. It rattled dishes, shook mirrors and lasted about 10 seconds."

Three Men Arrested After Burglary, Tip

Mill Valley Police have booked three men on suspicion of concealing stolen property taken from a home on Rose Avenue.

Charles Alexander Bell, 25, of no known address, William Geoffrey Howard, 26, of 822 Waldo Point, Sausalito, and Henry Garrison, 25, of 54 Cole Drive, Marin City, were set to appear today in Marin Municipal Court in connection with the burglary Friday night.

Mill Valley police said they received a tip Friday from Sausalito Police that a maroon pickup truck would be involved that night in a Mill Valley burglary.

Police said they spotted such an empty truck parked in the 100 block of Bayview Drive shortly after an 11:30 p.m. burglary on Rose Avenue.

According to police, Bell, Howard and Garrison returned to the truck three hours later with jewelry and stereo equipment which was identified as taken from the Rose Avenue home.

The three were arrested and booked into Marin County Jail, where they were held in lieu of $1,000 bail each.

Teen-Agers Arrested In Restaurant Burglary

Sausalito Police arrested two teen-agers yesterday in Zack's Restaurant into which they allegedly had broken by cutting through a window with a glasscutter.

An alarm had called police to the building at 4:15 a.m.

A 16-year-old youth from Daly City and a 17-year-old from Petaluma, were booked into juvenile hall on suspicion of burglary. Their names were withheld on a standing order of Judge Joseph E. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.

Police said they thought the two might also have been involved in a break-in at the nearby Boathouse Restaurant at 330 Turney Street discovered later yesterday morning. A sliding glass door had been pried open there, and someone had tampered with a safe inside without opening it.

Sonoma County Crash Kills 2

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Saturday that an early morning crash on Highway 37 which took the lives of two men occurred in Marin County.

The accident, in which Ralph E. McGill, 27, of Fairfield, and Ronald J. Mason, 28, of Travis Air Force Base died, happened in Sonoma County.

Marin County has had 17 traffic fatalities this year, as compared to 13 by June 30 of last year.

New Rules For Senate Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Bill Brock of Tennessee announced today the Senate Republican Campaign Committee is putting new rules into effect for next year's Senate races that go beyond the requirements of present law.

Brock said he has directed the Senate GOP campaign committee to neither participate in nor condone the "laundering" of campaign contributions.

He said laundering is the practice of contributors giving money to a general committee with instructions earmarking it for a particular candidate, thereby avoiding disclosure laws.

Brock's directive requires that all designated contributions be fully disclosed.

He also said no cash contributions in excess of $25 will be accepted. This is more restrictive than a bill approved by the Senate Rules Committee last week banning cash contributions of more than $100.

Man Gets Court Date For Tickets

A San Anselmo tax consultant who says he has received more than 150 parking tickets in the past three years for parking in front of his home will plead his case in Marin Municipal Court July 19.

Judge Gary W. Thomas set the trial without jury and bail at $343 today after Dean Boyd told him he was the victim of police harrassment.

At issue are 39 tickets Boyd received for violating San Anselmo's 30-year-old ordinance forbidding parking on any city street longer than 30 minutes between 2 and 6 a.m.

San Anselmo Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said the ordinance was enacted to facilitate street sweeping, allow emergency vehicles to pass and make it easier for officers to check out cars they suspect are involved in burglaries or other crimes.

Buchignani said Boyd has room on his property at 16 Oak Avenue to park both his cars but refuses to do so because he "loves publicity and notoriety."

Today's court apperance was Boyd's sixth, he said. In other appearances, some of the citations have been dismissed and once the judge reduced the fine from $15 each to $1.50, Boyd said.

Five Are Killed In Oregon Fire

PRINEVILLE, Ore. (UPI) — A predawn fire in an old wooden apartment building in downtown Prineville killed five persons today and a sixth resident was reported missing.

One person escaped from the one-story Green Front Apartments and firemen helped three others out through the flames. Ray Mooney, 61, was treated for minor burns at a local hospital and released.

The cause of the fire, which was spotted about 2 a.m. by a police officer on patrol, was under investigation.

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Police today reported the weekend kidnap of a Rumanian real estate broker, Pedro Fiks, 62, following the release yesterday of 11-year-old Oscar Lapajufker.
The boy's parents said he was released on the road to La Plata, about 30 miles from Buenos Aires, after payment of an undisclosed ransom.
Although police confirmed Fiks' capture, his relatives denied it. They said Fiks was out of the country on a trip. Their statement was interpreted to mean that efforts were being made privately to ransom Fiks.
There have been more than 70 kidnapings in Argentina this year, About a dozen persons still remain in the hands of their abductors. They include Fiks and four other foreigners: Charles Lockwood, British; Johan Gebhardt, German; John Thompson, American, and Mario Baratella, Italian.

The sun is most directly overhead then. You are most likely to tan or burn. There is little chance of getting either if sun exposure is before 8 a.m. or after 4 p.m., standard time.

It was a disastrous day of non-league baseball for Marin County Athletic League teams yesterday, only one of seven teams reaching the winning column.

The day's only prep victory went to Redwood, 6-1 winner over Vanden High School at Travis Air Force Base.

On the losing side of things, San Rafael was whipped byPetaluma High, 8-1; Marin Catholic was blanked by El Molino, 6-0; Tamalpais was drubbed by Hogan of Vallejo, 9-2; Drake fell to Vallejo High, 8-4; San Marin was edged by Sacred Heart, 3-2, and Terra Linda lost to St. Ignatius under the lights at Albert Field in San Rafael, 6-1. Fortunately, the way things were going, Novato did not have a game scheduled.

Mark Ruggles struck out 15 batters and allowed only three hits in going the seven innings on the mound for the defending MCAL champ Redwood Giants. Redwood did enough damage in the first inning to win the game when it had two hit batters and three singles good for two runs. It was Redwood's third win in five games.

Petaluma started quickly in its home game against San Rafael when Dan Solis hit a two-run single in the first inning. If that wasn't enough, his came b n the third with d tri- d

State Long Beach's hungry 49ers, the No. 1 and 3 college basketball teams in the nation, are heavy favorites to win tonight and reach the Saturday finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association West Regionals.

"Anything can happen in one game," said 49er coach Jerry Tarkanian when asked about a possible UCLA-Long Beach showdown in the regionals for the third straight year.

Led by Bill Walton, winner of the Naismith Award as the best amateur basketball player in the country last year as a sophomore, UCLA faces 13th-ranked Arizona State at 9:10 p.m. after Long Beach goes against University of San Francisco at 7:10 p.m.

The regionals are being held at Pauley Pavilion, home of the Bruins, and this caused Arizona State coach Ned Wulk to mutter:

"It's such a tremendous advantage to them (UCLA). I really don't like it but there's not much I can do about it. They pick these regional sites years in advance."

milk ever before the Pirates could dent the plate.

Tamalpais was tied at 2-2 after two and one-half innings against Hogan but from there it was all Hogan. The Indians had tied the score in the top of the third on a two-run single by Jake Newman.

San Marin's game was switched to Funston Park in San Francisco at the last minute because of wet grounds in Novato. The Mustangs fought back from 3-0 with runs in the sixth and seventh innings but a last-inning rally fell short when Bob Louie struck out with the bases loaded and two outs. San Marin was hitless until the seventh inning when Rich Villa and Al Davidson singled in that short-lived rally.

Against Terra Linda, St. Ignatius had its biggst inning in the fourth when it scored three times. Terra Linda pitcher Mark Mueller put himself in a hole in that inning by walking three batters. Two of the runs scored when the Terra Linda fielders lost a pop fly in the lights.

The BIG Inch

The ruled box above is a one-inch ad. It measures one column wide by one inch deep.

It costs you, the advertiser, $4.05 or less, depending on the contract rate. It looks kinda lonesome by itself. But look at it this way . . .

What you get when you buy a one-inch ad in the Independent Journal is not just a single inch of space in the paper, but one inch multiplied by 42,442 copies daily.

So you're really buying 42,442* inches, which at 168 column inches on a page would be almost 244 pages of printed newsprint! That's a mighty big chunk of space for a cost of only $4.05 or less. And that price includes delivery to the reader's front doorstep.

Just imagine the cost of reaching all those families by post-card. It would amount to more than $2,546.52 just for postage. But the I-J does it for a measly $4.05 or less per insertion.

You can see that a little one-inch ad is really a pretty BIG inch when it's advertising space in the Independent-Journal. And the figures show it's the most effective and economical way possible to let people know that you have wares or a service that they could use.

Call 454-3020 and let a newspaper advertising representative show you how a little BIG inch can wake up sales for you.

Bradley Gets Sworn In As L.A. Mayor

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Tom Bradley, son of a Texas sharecropper, took the oath yesterday that made him mayor of the nation's third largest city, and with it, one of the Democratic Party's ranking elected blacks.

Bradley was sworn in on the steps of the city hall, before a cheering crowd of admirers, by Earl Warren, former chief justice of the United States and governor of California. The 82-year-old Warren broke years of private life to make the appearance.

Political analysts began referring to Bradley in context with Sen. Edward Brooke, D-Mass., as an elected black leader, and with politically important mayors, such as the Republicans' Pete Wilson of San Diego and Democrat Joseph Alioto of San Francisco.

The crowd of about 3,600 at the inauguration included Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., five congressmen, 11 state legislators, former presidential candidate Eugene McCarthy, Manhattan borough President Percy Sutton and Illinois state Sen. Cecil Partee.

The inauguration crowd appeared to be more than half black, reporters estimated. But it included a group of about 40 brown-shirted members of the American Nazi Party, who chanted "White Power" and carried placards with anti-black slogans. There was no violence.

Bradley said later he heard the Nazis, but he ignored them as he gave his inauguration speech, pledging to be an activist mayor.

He linked his theme—"Turn to Tomorrow"—to the Watergate scandal.

"These last few weeks have been sad for those of us who believe in the American promise," he said. "Every day we hear new tales of ideals betrayed, laws broken, promises repudiated, crimes concealed, loyalty to the constitution itself overridden by personal considerations ...

"Let it be said that here in Los Angeles we began today to build the kind of government that means what it says and says what it means."

He pledged to use his office to coordinate with, plan with, or pressure if need be, state and federal officials, and the county government and dozens of smaller cities that make up the Los Angeles area.

Blaze Blackens About 20 Acres At Peacock Gap

A brush and grass fire burned out of control for more than two hours Saturday, blackening from 15 to 20 acres in the Peacock Gap area of San Rafael.

The fire was first reported at 1:29 p.m. and was not brought under control until 3:50 p.m. Mopup operations continued until 12:30 yesterday morning.

Twelve units and 40 men fought the fire, units from the San Rafael, San Anselmo, Kentfield, Larkspur, and Marin County fire departments.

No houses or other structures were touched by the flames.

Cook Is Charged In Murder Case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police arrested a barbecue cook today on murder charges in the holdup shooting death last month of Jon E. Tarantino, the holder of several fly casting records.

Ray E. Headspeth, 25, San Francisco, was taken into custody along with two companions after officers surrounded their car in the Fillmore District.

Homicide Inspector Earl Sanders said Headspeth was the suspected gunman in the slaying of Tarantino, who was shot after opening his family's Polk Street fish and poultry market on June 11.

HORACE IS HOPPING MAD

The New York Yankees' Horace Clarke (20) jumped up shouting at umpire Joe Brinkman yesterday after being called out trying to stretch a single into a double in the fourth inning of the first game of a home doubleheader against Cleveland. The Indians' shortstop, Leo Cardenas (4), took a tumble in the dirt making the tag on a throw from left fielder Charley Spikes. The Yankees won, 5-2. See baseball stories, page 35.

Wilbur Still Looking For Victory No. 15

With all the national publicity that has been heaped upon Knuckleballer Wilbur Wood of the Chicago White Sox of late, I felt I just had to see this man in action. So I went out to the Oakland Coliseum Saturday afternoon to watch the A's try to master Wood's knuckle ball.

Two A's mastered the pitch, Salvatore Bando once and Reginald Jackson twice. The result was three home runs and a 3-2 victory for the A's.

The two A's power men wasted little time with Wood's specialty pitch. With two out in the first inning, Bando lined a shot over the left field fence and Jackson followed with a towering drive in the second deck of the right field bleachers. The game had hardly begun and the A's were in front, 2-0.

NEXT TIME Jackson came to bat, in the fourth inning, he jumped on another of Wood's knuckle balls and sent it crashing to the screen over the right field fence for his second home run and the winning run. It was Jackson's 15th game-winning hit of the season, breaking a 2-2 tie, and his 16th home run.

It was more tough luck for Wood. Three knuckle balls which found the fat part of the bats and he was a loser. It was his sixth straight loss and fourth straight to the A's this season. The win-loss record for the man who was thought to have a chance at winning 40 games this year slipped to 14-11.

A knuckle ball is best viewed up close. To the batter who takes a mighty swing over or under the ball, or to the catcher who uses an oversized mitt to keep the ball from going past him, it's jumping all over the place. The view from the stands doesn't give the knuckler justice. It just looks like a nothing pitch. It looks like something the batting practice pitcher serves up before the game —only slower.

IT CAN MAKE a batter look silly at the plate. From the stand it looks as if the batter should bash every one of those pitches out of the ballpark. But, besides those three home runs, Wood gave up only three singles. He was outpitched this day by the A's Dave Hamilton who gave up just four hits in seven innings before getting some relief help from Darold Knowles.

There were 20,811 fans at Saturday's game, the younger members of the audience clutching baseballs since it was the A's Ball day promotion. Yesterday, when the A's took a doubleheader from the White Sox, 6-4 and 3-0, there were 28,467 on hand. That brought the season total to 434,700 at A's home games, still 85,596 less than the A's drew in 38 dates last year.

WITH THOSE three weekend victories by the A's, it puts them a full game ahead of the

'Turning Point Weekend' For The A's

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland A's manager Dick Williams called it a "turning point weekend," and well it might be.

During the past three days, the A's won three of four from the Chicago White Sox, including a 6-4 and 3-0 sweep Sunday, to climb firmly atop the American League West by one full game.

"We are where we are supposed to be," said Williams. "We should be on top because we are the best ball club."

Williams wasn't blowing his own horn because he still figures the White Sox, now three games back, are very much in the race along with the Twins, Royals and Angels.

"There is a long way to go," said the A's skipper, "but we finally are on top and I've said right from the start of the season that we are the team to beat. I don't mean to downgrade anyone else's club. It's just that I think we should win the pennant again."

Jim Hunter, with help from Darold Knowles, won the opener Sunday to run his record to 12-3. John Odom, with rooting help from a lot of fans and relief help from Rollie Fingers, picked up his first victory since May 12 and only second of the year in the nightcap.

Deron Johnson made things easy for both pitchers by driving in four runs with three singles, and Bill North and Bert Campaneris chipped in with two runs batted in each.

The California Angels are in town tonight for a three-game series with Vida Blue (7-3) pitching against Clyde Wright (6-10).

"The weekend series was a big one," said Williams, "and now we have another big one with the Angels. I think it's going to be that kind of a season, but with Odom showing he can pitch again and Vida finally settled into a groove, our pitching is our big suit."

Not many clubs can boast four rotation pitchers of quality, but now the A's have five with Odom slated for more work after falling into early season disfavor.

Odom kept the ball down in Sunday's nightcap. Of the 6 1-3 innings he worked, 15 putouts were recorded at first base. That's the kind of pitcher he used to be but hadn't been this season.

"An 83-year-old woman in a hospital sent me a religious symbol and told me she would be rooting for me," said Odom. "And another friend gave my wife another symbol to give to me. With people like that rooting for me, I felt confident I could do the job Sunday."

The White Sox are in Arlington tonight for a series with the Rangers. They left Oakland with Ken Henderson, Bill Melton, Carlos May and Jorge Orta limping from leg injuries and of course, big gun Dick Allen is on the disabled list.

"They'll be back," said Williams of the White Sox, "but right now we have to worry about the Angels and their tough pitching staff."

Vet Succeeds, Adds Western Open Victory

CHICAGO (UPI) — Billy Casper was trying hard to make the Ryder Cup golf team suddenly and won the Western Open.

Casper thought his chance for the $35,000 first prize in the $175,000 tournament had disappeared after he missed a two-foot putt on the 12th hole and thereby lost a stroke to leader Bruce Crampton.

"I thought that was it as far as my winning the championship, but I felt I still had a chance to make the Ryder Cup team and I continued to play hard," Casper said.

He got his stroke back with a 10-foot birdie putt on the next green and on the 16th, he went in front after a "most unusual situation."

"I hit a very bad drive to the right, in the rough," he said.

"I felt I couldn't reach the green, so I took a four wood. I hit it solid and it looked like I'd hit it right in front of the green," Casper said.

"When I walked up to it, it was Larry Hinson's ball that was in front of the green. Mine was right on," he said.

That one set up a birdie four and put him 12-under with two holes to go. He sank six-foot putts for par on the last two greens, finishing with a 69 and a 72-hole card of 272.

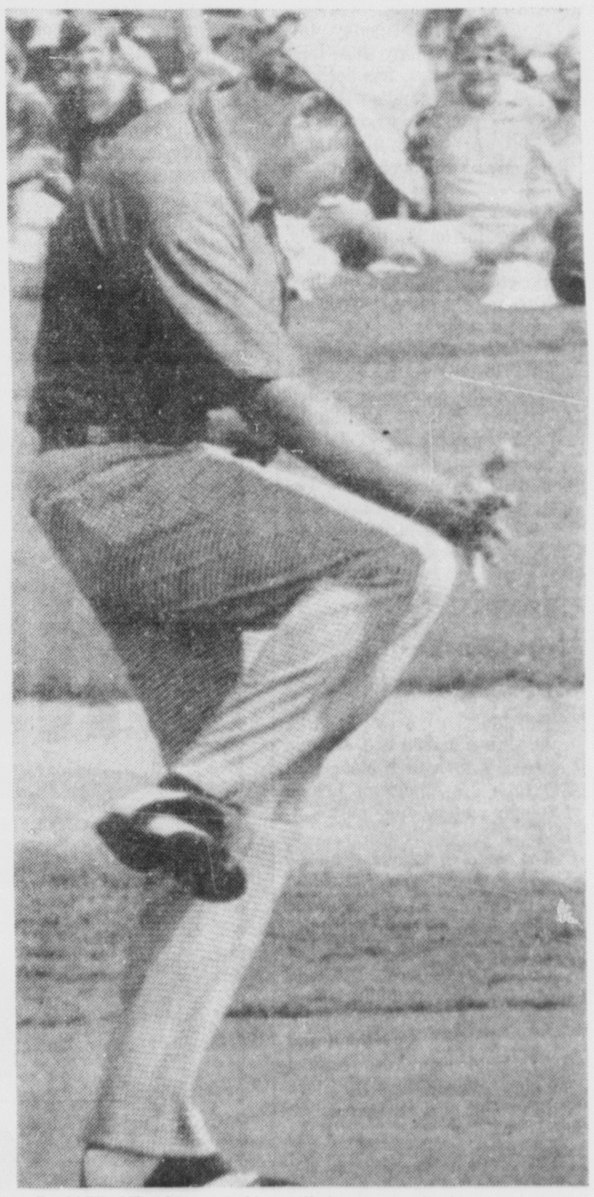
His finish was one stroke better than Hinson's and Hale Irwin's. They each earned $16,187.

Crampton, Hubert Green and J.C. Snead had 274s and got $7,233 for their efforts.

It was Casper's 49th win on the tour, but only his first in nearly two years. The prize boosted his total earnings to $1,377,723.

Crampton, trying for his fifth victory this year, was satified with his finish.

"I achieved my most important goal in raising my earnings over $1 million," he said.



DANCE OF JOY — Golfer Bill Casper broke into a victory dance yesterday after sinking a six-foot putt on the 18th green to give him a two-under-par 69 for the round and a one-stroke victory in the Western Open with a 272 total. It was his first tournament victory in two years. (UPI Telephoto)

Arnold Palmer finished in a two-way tie for seventh place and Lee Trevino in a four man bloc for 20th position.

Casper made the Ryder team for the seventh straight year. Others who made the squad, with most points after the Western, were:

Jack Nicklaus, Trevino, Tom Weiskopf, Gay Brewer, Lou Graham, Dave Hill, Tommy Aaron, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Homero Blancas, Palmer and J. C. Snead.

IN WIMBLEDON

Virginia Is Beaten By Evonne

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Australia's Evonne Goolagong, displaying all the artistry that won her the Wimbledon title in 1971, advanced to the semi-finals Monday with a 6-3, 6-3 win over Britain's game, but clearly outclassed Virginia Wade at the 85th Wimbledon tennis championships.

Miss Goolagong's dazzling display of cross-court shots to both wings kept the British girl on the run throughout most of the match. Twice Miss Wade lost her racket and crashed to the ground as she lunged at vexing shots that curved out of reach.

In the first set Miss Goolagong broke ahead 2-1 with a love service, broke Miss Wade's service and served an ace to move ahead 4-1. Only then did Miss Wade, fighting back her usual Center Court nerves, regain some confidence, breaking service and then holding her own. But she lost control again as Miss Goolagong served a devastating love game for the set.

In the second set Miss Wade gave new hope to the partisan crowd, breaking ahead 2-1 with a love game and again 3-2 with a net duel that went to deuce six times. But the Australian unleashed another display of passing shots to break ahead 4-3, served a love game and broke service for the match.

In doubles play today, Mike Machette of Belvedere and Raul Ramirez of Mexico were eliminated by Ilie Nastase of Romania and Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill., 6-4, 5-7, 3-6, 8-6, 8-6.

Today all eight seeds battle for places in the semifinals with bespectacled Mrs. King and Big Margaret heavily favored to win their matches and advance another step toward a center court confrontation Friday.

Pitching Blamed For Giants' Woes

ATLANTA (UPI) — Danny Frisella's first pitching victory as an Atlanta Brave had even his manager questioning the rulebook.

Frisella pitched to two batters in the top of the ninth of the second game of a Braves-Giants doubleheader.

The first man he faced, Gary Matthews, ripped a triple to deep right center to score two runs and give the Giants a 7-6 lead. The other, Gary Thommasson, bounced back to Frisella to end the inning.

"It just doesn't seem fair," groused Manager Eddie Mathews. "Phil Niekro works eight innings, goes out with a lead and the guy who wipes out his lead gets the win."

But that's the way the rules work. When the Braves rallied for two runs in the bottom of the ninth, Frisella was the pitcher of record and therefore the winner.

The Braves took that second game, 8-7, after the Giants erupted for nine runs in the eighth inning of the opener to win 14-6. Frisella also faced two batters in that first game, giving up a hit and a walk.

The Braves used four pitchers in that nine-run inning and the first three couldn't get anybody out. Tom House finally got three outs, but not before being tagged for two homers and four runs.

Giants Manager Charlie Fox blames his pitching for a tailspin that has cost the Giants a 10-game swing in the National League West in barely three weeks.

"We've been getting the hitting," said Fox after the Giants scored 21 runs Sunday and still had to settle for a split. "But our pitching has simply gone sour. We've got to start getting some complete games out of our starters."

Sundays first game ran 2:5 and the second 3:18 as the two teams combined for 35 runs and 47 hits, including home runs by Bobby Bonds (21), Dave Rader (6), Garry Maddox (4), Dave Kingman (9) and Ed Goodson (7) of the Giants and Darrell Evans (21) of the Braves.

Foreman Explains Why Sadler Leaves

OAKLAND (AP) — World heavyweight boxing champion George Foreman says he is not renewing the contract of longtime manager Dick Sadler, because he wants more independence in handling his boxing career.

Foreman said in an Oakland Tribune article Sunday that Sadler's 4-year-old contract has expired and that the George Foreman Development Corp. will handle his boxing affairs.

"There really will be no manager," Foreman said. "What will be said will come pretty much from myself.

"There's no bitterness between Dick and myself," he added. "But from now on no one else can make any statement or handle any negotiations for me. A fighter has got to have some independence."

Sadler also denied any rift between the two.

"There's no problem between George and me," Sadler said. "There never has been a problem and there never will be one. I ain't been fired and I'm not looking for no jobs.

"Actually, the only contract I had with George was in New York," he explained. "I had a contract with him in this state

Driver's Win Overshadowed

Combined AP & UPI

LE CASTELLET, France — Ronnie Peterson of Sweden won his first major grand prix, but Jackie Stewart of Scotland overshadowed his performance with a fourth place finish.

By coming in fourth Sunday at the French Grand Prix, Stewart — in a Tyrell Ford — passed Emerson Fittipaldi as leader in the world driver's championship.

Going into the race, Fittipaldi held a 41-39 point lead over the Scot, but the Brazilian's John Player Special was forced out of the race with a broken suspension following a minor accident with Jody Scheckter of South Africa.

Stewart's fourth place gave him three points in the drivers championship and put him in front of last year's champ by one point after eight out of 15 races counting toward the championship.

Peterson, driving a John Player Special Ford, took the lead when both Fittipaldi and Scheckter had to quit the race after their cars touched and they spun out when the Brazilian tried to grab the lead from Scheckter in the 54-lap, 188.5 mile race.

Football

CHICAGO — Elmer Layden, the most famous of Knute Rockne's "Four Horsemen" backfield of 1924-25 at Notre Dame, died Saturday in Chicago's Northwestern Memorial Hospital.

Layden, 70, a former national football league commissioner, will be buried Tuesday at 10 a.m. in Holy Name Cathedral.

Layden, a 166-pound fullback during his playing days, became Notre Dame's head coach and athletic director from 1934 to 1940. He was the NFL commissioner from 1941 through 1946.

Golf

ATLANTA — The stage was set for a storybook finish in Sunday's Lady Tara Golf Classic, but before the ink was dry, tour veteran Mary Mills slipped in and stole the headlines.

Miss Mills, in her 12th year on the Ladies Professional Golf Tour, fired a 3-under par 70 for a 217 total and a one-stroke victory over upstart Laura Baugh and three other tour regulars — Sandra Haynie, Judy Rankin and Sharon Miller.

CLASS BY HIMSELF — The nation's best three-year-old thoroughbred, Secretariat, charged down the homestretch at Arlington Park in Chicago Saturday with an easy victory over My Gallant and Our Native in the $125,000 Arlington Invitational race. Secretariat, with Ron Turcotte in the saddle, won by nine lengths but missed the track record by a fifth of a second.

A Gallon Of Gas Costs McCluskey Schaefer 500

MOUNT POCONO, Pa. (UPI) — A gallon of gas cost Roger McCluskey the Schaefer 500 auto race.

McCluskey, gambling that he would have enough fuel after making a pit stop on the 172nd lap, was leading A.J. Foyt bz 12 seconds when the white flag dropped Sunday for the final go-around on the 200-lap United States Auto Club race at Pocono Raceway.

The 42-year-old Tucson, Ariz., driver was reduced to tears of frustration after his McLaren Offy coasted to a stop when he ran out of gas with about 1.5 miles remaining in the race.

"I couldn't see how Roger could finish without stopping," said Foyt after winning his fourth 500-mile race in a brilliant driving career. "I knew McCluskey would have to gamble on fuel and I knew if he won the gamble, he would win the race. "I passed Roger coasting the second turn.

The victory was worth $90,000 to the 38-year-old veteran and brought Foyt his 44th winning national championship race. He averaged 144.944 miles an hour, almost 10 miles an hour slower than Joe Leonard's winning average last year.

The race took 3 hours 26 minutes 58 seconds and pushed Foyt into second place in the USAC driver standings behind McCluskey, 2,055-1,370. The victory was worth 1,000 points. Second was 800 points.

McCluskey was the apparent winner. He led for most of the final 200 miles. There were 28 lead changes in the race, but it was the last two that dictated the fate of the event, second leg of USAC's triple crown of 500 milers.

Gordon Johncock, winner of the opening leg at Indianapolis, was leading on the 136th lap when his Eagle-Offy went into the wall and the Franklin, Ind., driver was reduced to waiting for the wrecker to bring the vehicle back to the pits.

McCluskey was a victim of the new United States Auto Club rule that reduced tank capacity from 75 to 40 gallons after the Indy race in which two drivers were seriously burned.

Mario Andretti was the early leader in the race that produced Foyt as the only driver to complete all 200 laps. Jimmy Caruthers took over for the next 30 laps, with Johncock the leader after 100 miles (40 laps).

Inter-Marin Booters Deadlock Berkeley

BERKELEY — Inter-Marin Soccer Club's Jerry Hoffman scored 15 minutes into the first half, but the Berkeley Mavericks tallied with about 10 minutes left in the game to earn a 1-1 tie yesterday in a Nor Cal League soccer game at Cougar Field.

Inter-Marin (2-0-1) will play Sacramento Saturday at 6 p.m. at Paul A. Miller Field at San Rafael High School.

Minnesota Twins and three up on the other three teams in the race, Chicago, California and Kansas City. I think the A's are about to pull away from the rest of the league even further. They're now playing the way everybody expected them to before the season started.

If the attendance doesn't catch up with last year's figures now, owner Charles O. Finley will continue looking for greener pastures. It shouldn't be this hard to sell a winner to the Bay Area fans. Maybe there will be fewer empty seats in the Oakland Coliseum the rest of the season. If not, Finley's feet will remain itchy.

Secretariat Is Home After Chicago Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretariat was home awaiting his next performance today as his owner took care of his fan mail, which had reached 200 letters a day, and his agent worked on a line of merchandise bearing his name and likeness.

William Morris Agency, Inc. which handles many show business personalities, has been obtained to merchandise the Triple Crown winner who won the $125,000 Arlington Invitational Saturday at Chicago's Arlington Park.

This was done, Helen Tweedy, operator of Meadow Stable, said "because we want to have some control over the quality" of the merchandise. "We want it to be done in good taste."

As for the mail, Mrs. Tweedy said, "He gets as many as 200 letters a day and we've mailed 1,000 free pictures of him so far."

The affect that Secretariat has had on the public was clearly evident Saturday as a crowd of 41,223, largest at Arlington Park in at least 20 years, cheered his every move. It began with restrained applause as Secretariat walked from the barn to the paddock and reached a roar as he raced through the stretch for a nine-length victory over My Gallant, with Our Native third and Blue Chip Dan last.

Secretariat failed to set a track record but without being pushed he ran the 1⅛ miles in 1:47, only one-fifth of a second off the track mark.

The $75,000 first money boosted Secretariat's earnings to $970,242 and he will become a millionaire if he wins the $50,000 Whitney in which he will face older horses.

The victory, following an 8-0 loss to host Napa Saturday, gave Novato a 1-1 record in the second half of the District 5 split season.

Lawrence hit a two-run double in the second inning and a one-run single in the ninth. George Hoberg, Jeff Pond and Stan Conte each also backed winning pitcher Ray Stratford with two-hit performances.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Small Consolation For Yankee Stadium Visitors

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The demolition of Yankee Stadium can't come soon enough to suit the opponents of the New York Yankees.

The historic stadium is scheduled to be torn down and renovated, beginning next season, but that comes as small consolation to the clubs who are battling the Yankees for American League East Division honors this year. They are finding it practically impossible to beat the Yankees on New York's turf.

The Yankees stretched their home winning streak to 13 games Sunday by sweeping a doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians, 5-2 and 11-3, and the twin victory left New York four games ahead of second place Baltimore in the AL East standings.

"Everything seems to break your way when you're winning," said Yankee manager Ralph Houk, whose team is now 12 games over .500 and must rank as the team to beat for the AL East title. "The thing that's great about our ballclub is that everybody is picking everybody else up. (Roy) White's really doing the job now, but when he wasn't hitting somebody else was."

White and Bobby Murcer were the major hitting stars for the Yankees in the sweep, but just as he has throughout the last month, Houk got tremendous mileage out of his bench.

Gerry Moses, a reserve catcher who usually plays only the second games of doubleheaders, started the first game this time and went 3-for-4,scored two runs and drove in a run. Then in the second game, Houk replaced second baseman Horace Clarke, who had three hits in the opener, with Bernie Allen and Allen collected three hits, drove in two runs and scored twice.

Meanwhle, White continued his torrid hitting with a two-run triple and a single in the opener and a triple and two-run homer in the nightcap. Murcer had two hits and an RBI in the opener and sparked the second game triumph with a squeeze bunt single and a two-run homer. Ron Blomberg also homered for the Yankees in the second game as New York collected 27 hits in the doubleheaders.

The twin triumph enabled New York to pick up two games on second place Baltimore as the Orioles lost a doubleheader to Detroit 5-1 and 1-0; Milwaukee and Boston divided a pair with the Brewers winning the first game 9-5 and the Red Sox scoring a 4-2 victory in the nightcap; Oakland beat Chicago twice 6-4 and 3-0; Texas topped Kansas City 8-3 and Minnesota edged California 2-1.

Mickey Stanley's ninth home run of the season rewarded Mickey Lolich's four hitter with a victory in the second game for Detroit after John Hiller earned his 17th save in the first game victory over Orioles.

Designated hitter Orlando Cepeda drove in three runs and pitcher Luis Tiant scattered eight hits as the Red Sox downed the Brewers in the second game. Dave May collected three hits, drove in two runs and scored three more in the opener as Jim Colborn went 8 1-3 innings for his 11th victory of the year for the Brewers. Bill Lee (9-3) took the opening game loss for Boston.

Bill Sudakis, who had only six hits all season, hit a three-run homer, sparking a five-run sixth inning to lead the Rangers to victory over the Royals.

Southpaw Jim Kaat limited California o one hit—Frank Robinson's 534th career homer —and Rod Carew singled in both Minnesota runs in the third inning as the Twins edged the Angels.

FOREMAN

or any other because I didn't want one. But we had to have one in New York."

The contract between Sadler and Foreman was signed in New York in June, 1969 before the champion's first professional fight.

"The Foreman Development Corp. actually handled the title fight with Joe Frazier in January. That's how I got paid," Sadler noted.

He said he planned to be in Foreman's corner when the champ fights Joe Roman Sept. 1 in Tokyo.

Foreman and Leroy Jackson are officers in the corporation which was formed two years ago. Jackson said Sadler may be included later as Foreman's trainer.

Despite outward appearances, Foreman reportedly had been unhappy with a financial deal Sadler negotiated in 1971.

Under the deal, Marty Erlichman agreed to pay Foreman $500,000 over a 10-year period in return for half of the ancillary rights to his fights.

Erlichman later turned his rights over to a Philadelphia group which agreed to settle for 25 per cent when Foreman threatened not to fight Frazier.

"I'm not satisfied with the arrangement," Foreman said.

"I'm giving them 25 per cent for 10 years, expenses off the top came to another 10 per cent, there were personal people I was giving some to and I was being left with 20 to 25 per cent of the money."

REPORT DENIED

NBA Searching For New Czar?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — National Basketball Association owners are searching for a replacement for NBA commissioner J. Walter Kennedy who may be retired on a generous pension before his contract ends in 1975, the Los Angeles Times said today.

However, Kennedy issued a statement from his Connecticut home on Sunday branding the Times report as "absolutely, totally false . . . totally inaccurate . . . a lot of crap."

The Times said it had learned through an unidentified source that the move to oust Kennedy from the NBA post he has held 10 years was spearheaded by Seattle SuperSonics owner Sam Schulman, who has frequently been at loggerheads with Kennedy.

The owners, meeting last week in Beverly Hills, reportedly picked a "replacement committee' headed by Capitol Bullets owner Abe Pellin to conduct the talent search. The owners also reportedly voted 11-6 not to extend Kennedy's contract when it expires in two years.

The Times said that if a suitable replacement is found, he would displace Kennedy who would then be retained as a consultant and paid in excess of $50,000 annually for a period of 10 years.

"This agreement was reached with Walter in the room," the Times quoted its source as saying. "It wasn't a hatchet session. It was a very congenial blood-letting."

The Times said the owners agreed not to announce the search for a new commissioner but, instead, to let Kennedy announce it later in New York so it would not appear that the decision had been forced on him.

Kennedy, however, said in denying the Times report that he would leave the NBA post only at his choosing.

"I'll serve out my two years and beyond and it will be my decision. It takes 13 votes to fire me. It takes only nine votes to continue me in office," Kennedy said.

Asked if he had nine votes among the owners, Kennedy replied: "I don't want to sound arrogant, but I would be very surprised if I don't have 15 or 16."

TOURNEY

Bookmakers rate them both at 7-4.

Mrs. King, the second seed and defending titleholder, plays seventh-seeded Kerry Melville of Australia while top-seeded Mrs. Court is an even stronger favorite to beat Russia's eighth-seeded Olga Morozova.

Mrs. King and Miss Melville both dropped a set in their quarterfinals matches Saturday but the American turned on a final love set of such power and precision that bookmakers lengthened the odds on an upset.

Mrs. Court, aiming for an unprecedented repeat grand slam of the Australian, French, Wimbledon and U.S. titles, hits too hard, covers too much ground and is too determined to win the big share of the $147,800 prize money to give Mrs. Morozova a chance.

The fireworks, if any, may come in the match between fourth-seeded Chris Evert of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., who had to fight back from 0-4 in the third set of her quarterfinal Saturday and has not been playing her best, and fifth-seeded Rosemary Casals of Sausalito who has been improving with every match.

In the other quarterfinal, third-seeded Evonne Goolagong of Australia is favored to beat sixth-seeded Virginia Wade, the hometown girl who never seems to be able to reach the heights before her own crowd. She says the gasps everytime she misses a shot tend to unnerve her but it's a long time between tennis champions for the British and Miss Wade realizes she has simply got to learn to live with the pressure.

Knicks' Zechlin Hurls Win Over St. Helena, 6-3

ST. HELENA —Ron Zechlin, starting his first game of the year on the mound, helped end the C. L. Moore Knickerbockers' losing streak by pitching and batting the Novato semi-pro baseball team to a 6-3 non-league victory over the St. Helena Blue Sox last night.

Zechlin doled out six hits and struck out 11. He also hit two doubles, one driving in the Knicks' first run in the fifth inning, the other chasing across two runs in the sixth to put the Novatans ahead, 5-3.

The Knicks, 2-9-1 on the year, had an eight-game winless streak consisting of seven losses and a tie.

Savage was from Santa Ana, Calif. The injuries at Indianapolis were the second he had occurred in auto racing. He suffered a serious head injury in 1971 during a West Coast race.

Bucs On Way Back In National League

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

At this point in time, to use a phrase currently popular with TV stars, the Pittsburgh Pirates are moving through the National League Eastern Division field like Secretariat.

The Pirates were in last place as recently as June 24 when they suddenly made their long-awaited move. In a week they've jumped from sixth to third place only a half game out of second. The rub is that the Chicago Cubs are still sailing out there in first place with a resplendant 7 ½ game lead.

Can the three-time NL East champions make up the ground in the half-season-plus left to them? The Cubs have dissipated bigger leads in less time in the past, notably in 1969, but so far they've shown no signs of cracking.

At the same time, the Pirates are beginning to feel they're on their way. "Everyone on this club thinks it's only a matter of time before we're on top again," Jim Rooker said Sunday after the Pirates swept the Montreal Expos, 6-2 and 8-4, to run their winning streak to five and give them seven wins in nine games. Others, from Willie Stargell to rookie Fernando Gonzalez, echoed that sort of confidence.

The Cubs divided a pair of 6-5 decisions with the New York Mets, New York winning the opener and the Cubs the nightcap, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 and 3-2 in 10 innings, the Houston Astros beat the San Diego Padres 6-4, the Philadelphia Phillies shaded the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0, and the Atlanta Braves nipped the San Francisco Giants 8-7 after a 14-6 loss in other NL games.

Al Oliver had four hits and Richie Hebner drove in two runs in the first game as the Pirates' Luke Walker won his fourth game with late relief help from Bob Johnson. Gonzalez' two-run triple was the big blow of a five-run, fourth-inning outburst which decided the second game for the Pirates. Rooker went 6 1-3 innings for the win with Dave Giusti gaining his eighth save.

Wayne Garrett's three-run homer and a solo shot by John Milner helped the Mets beat Ferguson Jenkins with Jerry Koosman winning his seventh game but the Cubs earned the split when Randy Hundley hit a three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning of the second game.

The Reds beat the Dodgers in a pair of squeakers, winning the first game on pinch-hitter Hal King's three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning and the nightcap on Tony Perez' run-scoring single with two out in the 10th.

Don Wilson pitched a seven-hitter and hit a two-run double to win his sixth game as the Astros handed San Diego's Bill Greif his 12th setback against four wins.

Dick Ruthven pitched a two-hitter and Greg Luzinski knocked in the only run of the game as the Phillies handed St. Louis' Bob Gibson his eighth defeat compared to seven wins.

MacKay Group Heads Program At Round Hill

Barry MacKay Sports Ltd., an organization headed by the star tennis player from Ross, has been hired to coordinate the tennis program at Round Hill Golf and Country Club in Alamo.

MacKay's frequent doubles partner in local matches, John Zwieg of Greenbrae, has been named the club's resident pro, replacing Humberto Diaz.

MacKay last year was tournament director of the $50,000 Redwood Bank International, which will be held at Round Hill again this year under new sponsorship, the Fireman's Fund.

The MacKay organization will oversee a club with a membership of about 400 and a 15-court facility including a stadium court and a clubhouse.

charges arising from two separate cases. Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire ordered her arrest following her failure to appear June 25 for sentencing on a charge of concealing stolen property, resulting from a Jan. 26 rain in which San Rafael police said they found loot from three burglaries hidden in her home. She failed to appear in Municipal Court June 8 to face preliminary hearing on a charge of attempted burglary of a Corte Madera home April 11. The preliminary hearing will be Friday.

PLEADED INNOCENT

Richard Anthony Weaver, 35, and John Robert Prater, 20, both of Oakland, entered innocent pleas to charges of the $20,000 burglary June 21 of the Ambrose Williams home on Glenside Way, Los Ranchitos.

HELD TO ANSWER

Michael Beebe Cross, 25, of Angwin, Napa County, was bound over to Superior Court on charges of possession of a weapon by a felon and of possessing a sawed-off shotgun. Municipal Court Judge David R. Baty Jr. dismissed a burglary count after two supposed victims refused to testify against Cross during a preliminary hearing. He was arrested June 12 after he allegedly burst into a Fairfax home wearing a ski mask, and threatened two occupants at gunpoint.

PLEADED GUILTY

Monte Dean Beaty, 23, of San Rafael pleaded guilty to a count of burglary of the Betty Johnson residence on B Street in San Rafael April 23. Superior Court Judge David A. Menary Jr. promised a sentence of no more than nine months in county jail and dismissed counts of concealing stolen property and of a second burglary, that of the Edwain A. Beddard home on Chestnut Avenue, San Rafael, April 23.

Robert Stefan Palun, 34, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty to a reduced, misdemeanor count of concealing stolen property arising from the theft of a motorcycle from the Dick H. Brailton home in Larkspur June 8. Municipal Court Judge Gary W. Thomas promised no more than 60 days in county jail as a result of plea bargaining.

Frank Dennis Bautista, 19, and John Joseph Mueller, 19, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty in Superior Court to charges of the March 22 burglary of the Robert E. Eby home on Bungalow Avenue, San Rafael. Judge David Menary Jr. promised no more than six months in county jail for the bargained plea.

Huge Rat-Like Rodent Bites Boy At Ohio Zoo

Jason Estep of Newark, Ohio, stuck his arm through a chain link fence where a capybara—one of the largest species of rodents on earth—was housed. The boy was bitten on the upper left arm.

Estep was rushed to Riverside Hospital, where he underwent emergency surgery to suture the wound. He was initially listed in serious condition and today was reported in fair condition.

"He's not in any danger of losing the arm," a supervisor at the hospital said. "I think he's going to be OK." The supervisor said there were deep bite holes on both the front and back side of the boy's left arm.

The capybara, about the size of a large dog but resembling a rat, is a native of South America.

"The one that bit the boy eighed about 60 pounds," said Joseph Myers, office manager of the zoo. "It's one of the largest rodents on earth."

Death Is Blamed On Heart Attack

An El Cerrito man who had spent the day fishing at Lake Lagunitas, was found dead in his car at 3 p.m. Saturday on the Lake Lagunitas Road near Shaffer Dam, Marin County coroner's office reported.

The body of Lloyd Batista Angela, 50, was found on the front floorboard of his car which had rolled off the highway with its emergency flashers on, the coroner reported. Death apparently was caused by a heart attack. He had a history of hypertension, nervousness and chest pains.

Snake Bite Victim Is 'Critical'

NEWPORT, Tenn. (UPI) — A huge Diamondback rattlesnake bit one of 400 worshippers attending the national convention of a snake-handling cult Sunday. The man, who initially refused medical treatment, was reported in "very critical" condition today.

Murl Bass, of Chattanooga, Tenn., returned to Chattanooga after the convention ended Sunday. He was admitted to Erlanger Hospital today and a hospital spokesman described his condition as "very critical."

An official of the cult, Danny Smith of Morristown, Tenn., said Bass had felt better after a prayer vigil for him by other worshipers at the convention of the Holiness Church of God in Jesus Name.

Bass and four other men were dancing, clapping and singing when he reached to take the five-foot rattler from one of the 400 other people at the service. The snake struck him just above the right wrist.

As Bass shook the snake loose, its fangs ripped open his arm and blood streamed into his hand. He continued singing and jumping for about three minutes, then the venom began to make itself felt and he was taken to the edge of the yard of the little church.

Other members of the group gathered around Bass and began praying and shouting over him. After a while, he was helped inside the home of the Rev. Liston Pack and the prayer vigil continued.

Later, several men were seen carrying Bass from the house, but no one would say where he had been taken. "I don't know where he is," Pack said.

The bite was the second Bass suffered during the weekend. Saturday night he was struck by a smaller snake, but apparently suffered no ill effects.

What Traveling Employees Get

The per diem cost of feeding and lodging county employees traveling on official business has averaged $42.97 during the three months since supervisors increased the travel expense allowance.

Previously, employees were granted a flat $32 per day to cover meals, lodging and incidental expenses such as parking and taxi fare.

However, at the urging of top county employees, supervisors voted unanimously in March to grant a flat $25 for meals and incidentals and leave the cost of lodging openended.

According to County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, the average cost of lodging was $17.97 which when added to the flat $25 totals $42.97.

Mitchell, whose figures were averaged from 132 days claimed, said the rate paid employees varied from a low of $33.40 per day to a high of $58.

A recent magazine article noted that the state lodging cost averaged $19 per day, Mitchell said, adding "our three-month experience reflects that we were lower than the average — $19.97 per day."

Conference Calls For Use Of Solar Energy

PARIS (UPI) — A sunshine-clollecting station in orbit around the earth to make electricity is no longer farfetched and engineers must work to put this and other ideas into practice, speakers said today at the world's biggest solar energy conference.

"Action must pass as soon as possible from the researchers to the engineers in order that the domestic use of solar energy can be realized," said French Minister of Industrial Development Jean Charbonnel.

"After the scientific studies, the phase of economic use of solar energy perhaps has arrived," Charbonnel said.

Eight hundred biologists, engineers, architects, urban experts, industrialists, scientists and researchers from 60 countries took part in the meeting under the sponsorship of the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

James M. Harrison, former deputy minister of Canada's Department of Energy and Resources and now assistant science director of UNESCO, told the group:

"The breakthroughs are beginning to be perceived on the horizon. For the first time, proposals for supplying a large fraction of the world's vast power needs by solar energy no longer seem quite so farfetched."

Experts have stressed the importance of the four-day conference in view of the world energy crisis, the unrealibility of oil supplies and dwindling fuel resources.

Harrison said proposals included one by American scientists "to put a solar collecting station into orbit around the earth which would consist of a sunshine converter connected to a giant microwave transmitter beaming the energy to a receiving station on earth."

He said a number of achievements so far have been made in harnessing sunshine, such as small solar water heaters, plants to take the salt out of sea water, and engines in use in a small way in some African countries.

"Technological breakthroughs are needed principally in two areas—the efficiency of absorption and the thermal dynamics of heat storage," Harrison said.

New York Has Strikes And Threatened Strikes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hospital workers, airline food employes and grave diggers were on strike in New York today, and a strike by lawyers for the poor also was threatened.

In addition, contracts for nearly 200,000 city employes expired yesterday.

The strike by Local 365 of the Cemetery Workers and Green Attendants entered its 23rd day as 5,200 bodies backed up at 47 cemeteries. City health officials, alarmed at the growing number of delayed burials, have advised that plastic pouches be used to encase bodies.

In other labor action, emergency negotiations began yesterday with the union representing lawyers of ths Legal Aid Society in a final attempt to avoid a strike.

A hospital strike continued in Brooklyn, and food employes for KLM Royal Dutch Airline walked off their jobs at Kennedy Airport.

The Legal Aid Society, a nonprofit group, represents 75 per cent of the defendants in the city courts under an $8 million contract with the city to provide representation for those who cannot afford private attorneys.

Contracts between the city and major public employe unions representating 60,000 police, firemen, sanitation workers and 120,000 nonuniformed municipal workers expired at 12:01 a.m. yesterday.

General Haig Is Honored At Dinner

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., who is giving up his military career to become President Nixon's chief of staff, was honored yesterday at a dinner sponsored by Pepperdine University.

Among the 1,100 guests were Omar N. Bradley, the nation's only living five star general, and a number of former prisoners of the North Vietnamese.

New Director Named For Arms Control

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fred Charles Ikle is the new director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

The Senate Saturday approved his nomination by voice vote. Ikle, 48, a political scientist, succeeds Gerard C. Smith. He is the first academician to head the agency.

Development Halt Will Be Considered

Marin County Supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 10:15 a.m. at Civic Center, will consider a proposal to suspend the processing and approval of new development projects in central and southern Marin for the duration of the Marin Municipal Water District moratorium.

The proposal, suggested by planning director Werner Von Gundell and supported unanimously by the planning commission, would not affect projects outside the water district.

According to Von Gundell, the proposal would save staff time and county expense since development applications approved today may not be valid by the time the moratorium on water connections is lifted.

Further, Von Gundell said, the county's development policies and standards might change in the interim. Also, areas now under county jurisdiction might be annexed to cities.

Supervisors also are expected to discuss whether to reconsider their opposition to a fill permit for the controversial Marin Mall Shopping Center in Corte Madera.

Marin Pipers Snare Competition Awards

Members of the three Marin County Prince Charles Pipe Bands won several prizes in group and individual competition at the Scotch Highland Games held in Santa Monica Saturday.

Bruce Maxwell of San Rafael took first prize in the amateur strathspy and reel competition in the over-16-years category, as well as second prize in the amateur pibroch contest.

Matthew Burgin of Strawberry won third prize in the latter division and also took a third place in the amateur strathspy and reel competition for 16-year-olds or younger and third prize in the amateur jig contest for the same age group.

Kenneth Sutherland of Corte Madera won second place in the amateur strathspy and reel.

Stephen Wallace of Corte Madera took third place in the novice drumming march; Donald McPherson of Corte Madera, second in the drum major contest, and Erin Burgin of Strawberry, third in the amateur sword dance competition for 17-year-olds and younger.

The junior pipe band won second prize in the march, strathspy and reel Class Three division, and the ladies pipe band took second in Class Two division. The boys' pipe band took third place in the same competition.

Contestants came from the western states and Canada.

Kennedy Airport Has Anniversary

NEW YORK (AP) — John F. Kennedy Airport has marked its silver anniversary.

Built on a great expanse of marshes, Kennedy Airport now is one of the world's largest. It employs 40,000 persons and last year was a departure and arrival point for 20.7 million passengers.

The airport was opened to commercial flights on July 1, 1948. It was first called Idlewild but the name was officially changed to John F. Kennedy International Airport shortly after the assassination of the President in 1963.

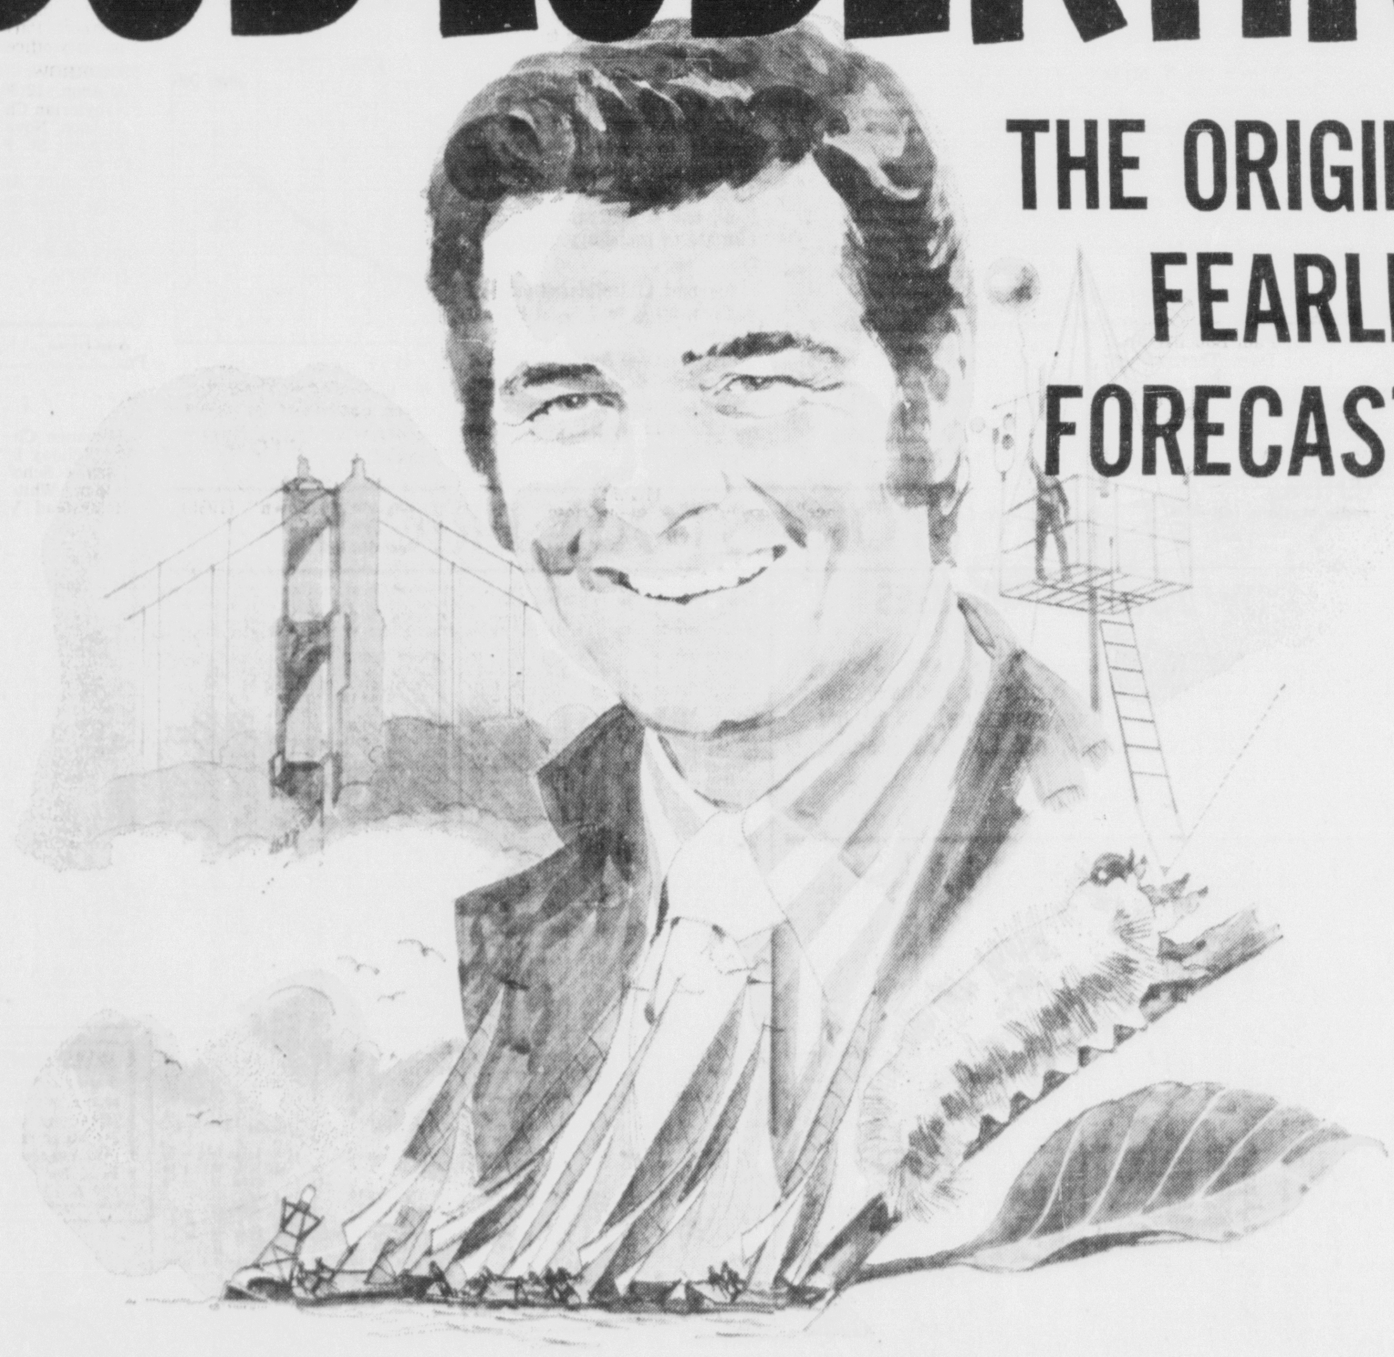
BOB LOBERTINI



THE ORIGINAL FEARLESS FORECASTER

Accurate, unequivocal weather predictions using barometers, thermometers, anemometers —and woolly worms.

One day in the midwest 17 years ago, Bob Lobertini predicted snow. It was 72° at the time, and Bob immediately became the laughing stock of town. Then it snowed 7 inches. And he immediately became "The Fearless Forecaster." Bob has had that title ever since, and has been making predictions like that ever since. Unpredictable predictions that are sometimes seemingly foolhardy yet over 90% accurate.

How does he do it? By using all the latest scientific devices and woolly worms.

"You take woolly worms," Bob says. "See those stripes? They'll tell you what kind of weather we're going to have this winter."

You might smile tolerantly at Bob and his woolly worms until you learn that he is a member of the American Meteorological Society, the National Geophysical Union and American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Will it snow in downtown San Francisco tomorrow? Watch Bob Lobertini and his woolly worms tonight at 6, 7, and 11 pm.

THE FIAT 128 FOUR-DOOR SEDAN BRINGS YOU GOOD NEWS FOR YOUR KNEES.

Up front, you get 2 inches more legroom than a Cadillac Eldorado, while in back you get 3 inches more legroom than a Buick Riviera.

Jason Estep of Newark, Ohio, stuck his arm through a chain link fence where a capybara—one of the largest species of rodents on earth—was housed. The boy was bitten on the upper left arm.

Estep was rushed to Riverside Hospital, where he underwent emergency surgery to suture the wound. He was initially listed in serious condition and today was reported in fair condition.

"He's not in any danger of losing the arm," a supervisor at the hospital said. "I think he's going to be OK." The supervisor said there were deep bite holes on both the front and back side of the boy's left arm.

The capybara, about the size of a large dog but resembling a rat, is a native of South America.

"The one that bit the boy eighed about 60 pounds," said Joseph Myers, office manager of the zoo. "It's one of the largest rodents on earth."

Snake Bite Victim Is 'Critical'

NEWPORT, Tenn. (UPI) — A huge Diamondback rattlesnake bit one of 400 worshippers attending the national convention of a snake-handling cult Sunday. The man, who initially refused medical treatment, was reported in "very critical" condition today.

Murl Bass, of Chattanooga, Tenn., returned to Chattanooga after the convention ended Sunday. He was admitted to Erlanger Hospital today and a hospital spokesman described his condition as "very critical."

An official of the cult, Danny Smith of Morristown, Tenn., said Bass had felt better after a prayer vigil for him by other worshipers at the convention of the Holiness Church of God in Jesus Name.

Bass and four other men were dancing, clapping and singing when he reached to take the five-foot rattler from one of the 400 other people at the service. The snake struck him just above the right wrist.

As Bass shook the snake loose, its fangs ripped open his arm and blood streamed into his hand. He continued singing and jumping for about three minutes, then the venom began to make itself felt and he was taken to the edge of the yard of the little church.

Other members of the group gathered around Bass and began praying and shouting over him. After a while, he was helped inside the home of the Rev. Liston Pack and the prayer vigil continued.

Later, several men were seen carrying Bass from the house, but no one would say where he had been taken. "I don't know where he is," Pack said.

The bite was the second Bass suffered during the weekend. Saturday night he was struck by a smaller snake, but apparently suffered no ill effects.

Death Is Blamed On Heart Attack

An El Cerrito man who had spent the day fishing at Lake Lagunitas, was found dead in his car at 3 p.m. Saturday on the Lake Lagunitas Road near Shaffer Dam, Marin County coroner's office reported.

The body of Lloyd Batista Angela, 50, was found on the front floorboard of his car which had rolled off the highway with its emergency flashers on, the coroner reported. Death apparently was caused by a heart attack. He had a history of hypertension, nervousness and chest pains.

What Traveling Employees Get

The per diem cost of feeding and lodging county employees traveling on official business has averaged $42.97 during the three months since supervisors increased the travel expense allowance.

Previously, employees were granted a flat $32 per day to cover meals, lodging and incidental expenses such as parking and taxi fare.

However, at the urging of top county employees, supervisors voted unanimously in March to grant a flat $25 for meals and incidentals and leave the cost of lodging openended.

According to County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, the average cost of lodging was $17.97 which when added to the flat $25 totals $42.97.

Mitchell, whose figures were averaged from 132 days claimed, said the rate paid employees varied from a low of $33.40 per day to a high of $58.

A recent magazine article noted that the state lodging cost averaged $19 per day, Mitchell said, adding "our three-month experience reflects that we were lower than the average — $19.97 per day."

Conference Calls For Use Of Solar Energy

PARIS (UPI) — A sunshine-collecting station in orbit around the earth to make electricity is no longer farfetched and engineers must work to put this and other ideas into practice, speakers said today at the world's biggest solar energy conference.

"Action must pass as soon as possible from the researchers to the engineers in order that the domestic use of solar energy can be realized," said French Minister of Industrial Development Jean Charbonnel.

"After the scientific studies, the phase of economic use of solar energy perhaps has arrived," Charbonnel said.

Eight hundred biologists, engineers, architects, urban experts, industrialists, scientists and researchers from 60 countries took part in the meeting under the sponsorship of the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

James M. Harrison, former deputy minister of Canada's Department of Energy and Resources and now assistant science director of UNESCO, told the group:

"The breakthroughs are beginning to be perceived on the horizon. For the first time, proposals for supplying a large fraction of the world's vast power needs by solar energy no longer seem quite so farfetched."

Experts have stressed the importance of the four-day conference in view of the world energy crisis, the unrealibility of oil supplies and dwindling fuel resources.

Harrison said proposals included one by American scientists "to put a solar collecting station into orbit around the earth which would consist of a sunshine converter connected to a giant microwave transmitter beaming the energy to a receiving station on earth."

He said a number of achievements so far have been made in harnessing sunshine, such as small solar water heaters, plants to take the salt out of sea water, and engines in use in a small way in some African countries.

"Technological breakthroughs are needed principally in two areas—the efficiency of absorption and the thermal dynamics of heat storage," Harrison said.

New York Has Strikes And Threatened Strikes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hospital workers, airline food employes and grave diggers were on strike in New York today, and a strike by lawyers for the poor also was threatened.

In addition, contracts for nearly 200,000 city employes expired yesterday.

The strike by Local 365 of the Cemetery Workers and Green Attendants entered its 23rd day as 5,200 bodies backed up at 47 cemeteries. City health officials, alarmed at the growing number of delayed burials, have advised that plastic pouches be used to encase bodies.

In other labor action, emergency negotiations began yesterday with the union representing lawyers of ths Legal Aid Society in a final attempt to avoid a strike.

A hospital strike continued in Brooklyn, and food employes for KLM Royal Dutch Airline walked off their jobs at Kennedy Airport.

The Legal Aid Society, a nonprofit group, represents 75 per cent of the defendants in the city courts under an $8 million contract with the city to provide representation for those who cannot afford private attorneys.

Contracts between the city and major public employe unions representating 60,000 police, firemen, sanitation workers and 120,000 nonuniformed municipal workers expired at 12:01 a.m. yesterday.

General Haig Is Honored At Dinner

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., who is giving up his military career to become President Nixon's chief of staff, was honored yesterday at a dinner sponsored by Pepperdine University.

Among the 1,100 guests were Omar N. Bradley, the nation's only living five star general, and a number of former prisoners of the North Vietnamese.

New Director Named For Arms Control

The Senate Saturday approved his nomination by voice vote. Ikle, 48, a political scientist, succeeds Gerard C. Smith. He is the first academician to head the agency.

Development Halt Will Be Considered

Marin County Supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 10:15 a.m. at Civic Center, will consider a proposal to suspend the processing and approval of new development projects in central and southern Marin for the duration of the Marin Municipal Water District moratorium.

The proposal, suggested by planning director Werner Von Gundell and supported unanimously by the planning commission, would not affect projects outside the water district.

According to Von Gundell, the proposal would save staff time and county expense since development applications approved today may not be valid by the time the moratorium on water connections is lifted.

Further, Von Gundell said, the county's development policies and standards might change in the interim. Also, areas now under county jurisdiction might be annexed to cities.

Supervisors also are expected to discuss whether to reconsider their opposition to a fill permit for the controversial Marin Mall Shopping Center in Corte Madera.

Kennedy Airport Has Anniversary

NEW YORK (AP) — John F. Kennedy Airport has marked its silver anniversary.

Built on a great expanse of marshes, Kennedy Airport now is one of the world's largest. It employs 40,000 persons and last year was a departure and arrival point for 20.7 million passengers.

The airport was opened to commercial flights on July 1, 1948. It was first called Idlewild but the name was officially changed to John F. Kennedy International Airport shortly after the assassination of the President in 1963.

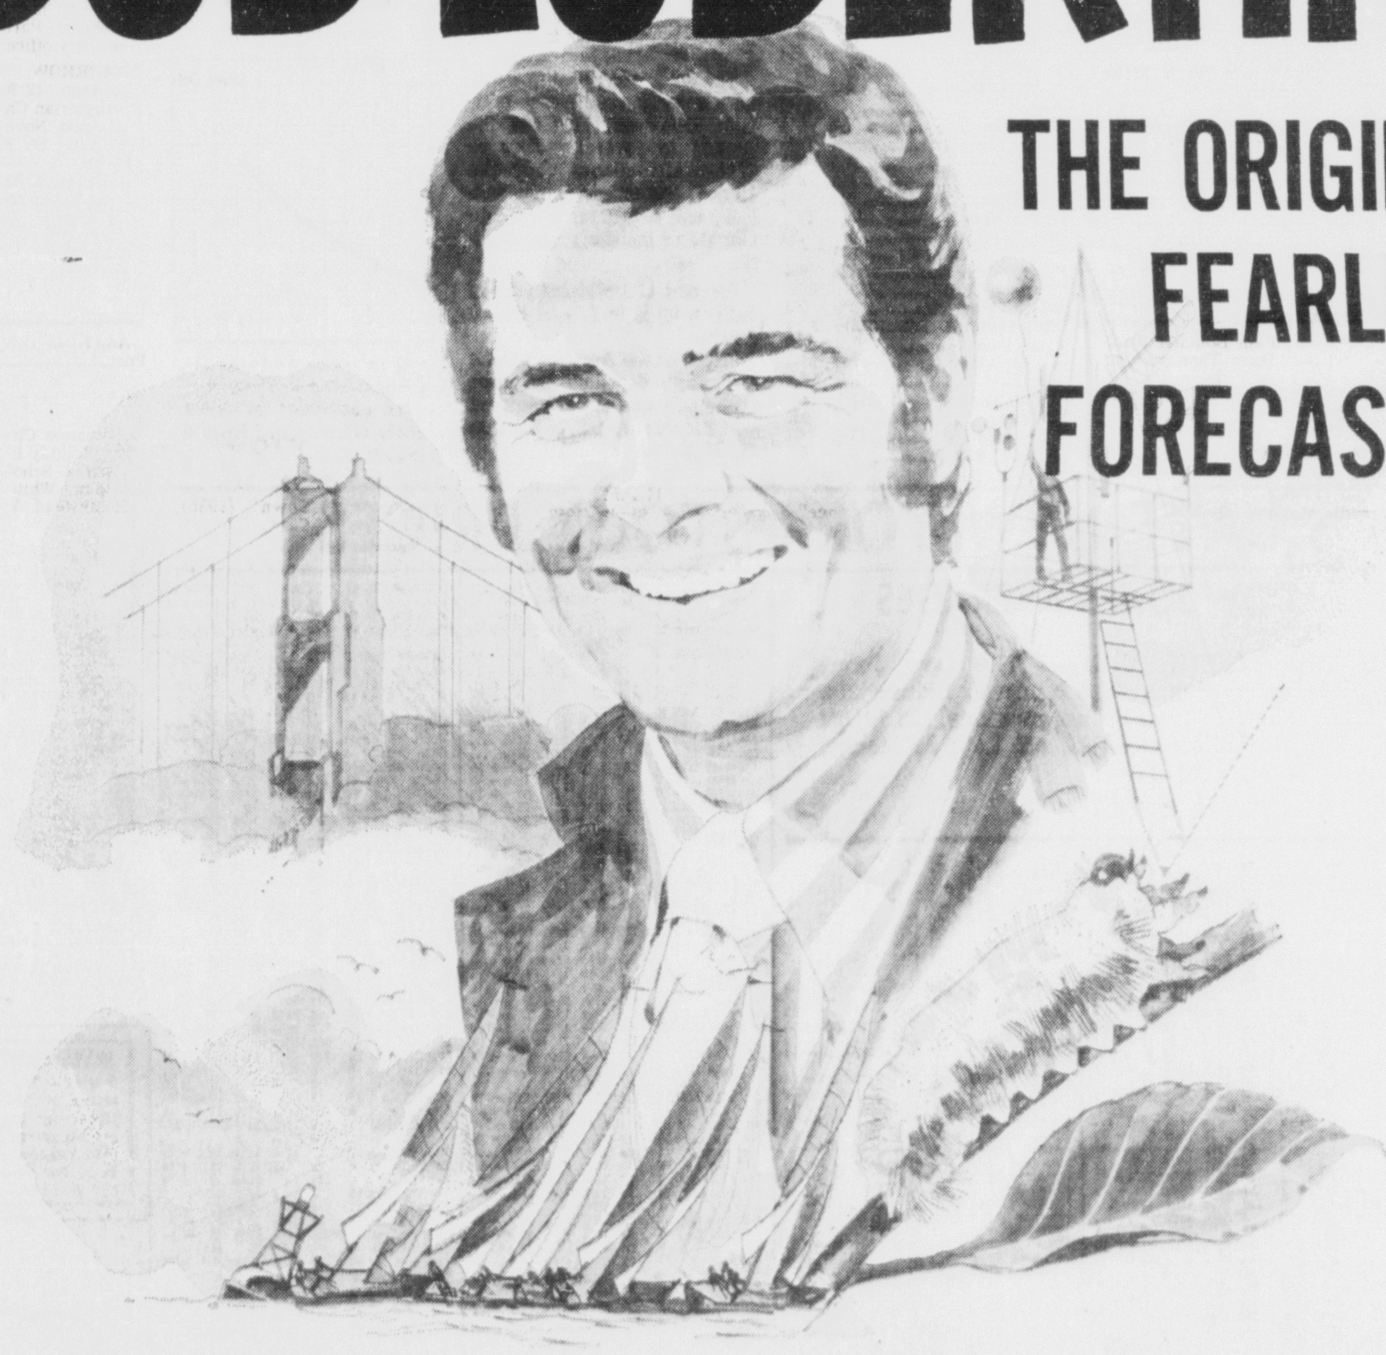
BOB LOBERTINI



THE ORIGINAL FEARLESS FORECASTER

Accurate, unequivocal weather predictions using barometers, thermometers, anemometers —and woolly worms.

One day in the midwest 17 years ago, Bob Lobertini predicted snow. It was 72° at the time, and Bob immediately became the laughing stock of town. Then it snowed 7 inches. And he immediately became "The Fearless Forecaster." Bob has had that title ever since, and has been making predictions like that ever since. Unpredictable predictions that are sometimes seemingly foolhardy yet over 90% accurate.

How does he do it? By using all the latest scientific devices and woolly worms.

"You take woolly worms," Bob says. "See those stripes? They'll tell you what kind of weather we're going to have this winter."

You might smile tolerantly at Bob and his woolly worms until you learn that he is a member of the American Meteorological Society, the National Geophysical Union and American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Will it snow in downtown San Francisco tomorrow? Watch Bob Lobertini and his woolly worms tonight at 6, 7, and 11 pm.

Long's Drug Store At Red Hill Shopping Center Will Remodel

Long's Drug Store at Red Hill Shopping Center in San Anselmo will expand into space formerly occupied by Hickory Farms, adding 2,000 square feet to bring the total floor area to 20,000 square feet.

The expansion will permit enlarging and relocating several departments, said Ron Plumgren, who is in charge of construction for the drug store chain.

Remodeling work is under way by Page Construction Co. of Novato, and the job should be completed in about two months, Plumgren estimated. There will be no disruption in service at the drug store during the remodeling.

Long's Drug at the Red Hill Shopping Center was established in January of 1967 and is managed by Gerald Eilers. Long's also has stores in San Rafael and Novato.

BELL SAVINGS and Loan Association, headed by President Fred F. Enemark of San Rafael, has opened a branch office at 5050 Geary Street in San Francisco. The new branch, managed by Ellen Ching, will offer bilingual (English-Chinese) services to its customers.

A subsidiary of Pacific Coast Holdings Inc., Bell Savings provides financial services and resources to the real estate industry as well as insurance brokerage services throughout California. It also has offices in San Mateo, San Rafael, Burlingame and Woodside.

EDWARD S. GALLAGHER, M.D., an Orinda pediatrician, has been appointed to the staff of Lester Gorsline Associates of Terra Linda, planning and management consultants to health care institutions.

Dr. Gallagher's initial assignment will involve consultation on a program with Children's Hospital, San Francisco. It is a program for long-term development to be completed before the Children's Hospital's 100th anniversary in 1975.

AMERICAN SAVINGS and Loan Association at 550 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael, will be offering portfolios of historic American documents from today through July 10 in celebration of Independence Day, Manager KENNETH BOOSEY announced.

The portfolios include the "Declaration of Independence", "Bill of Rights", "The Constitution," and "The Star Spagnled Banner." About 100,000 portfolios will be given away free at American Savings' offices throughout the state.

ROBERT W. CORLETT and ARTHUR M. LEBOW, San Rafael attorneys, moved into new offices this week at 1001 D Street (corner of Fourth and D Street) in San Rafael, above the Christian Science Reading Room.

Until last week, Corlett and Lebow had been at 1526 Fifth Avenue for 14½ years.

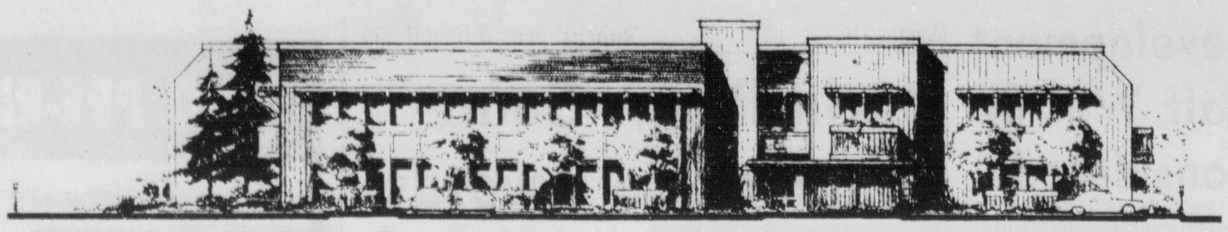
CROCKER BANK will introduce its "swift service" system at its Novato office, 1590 Grant Avenue, tomorrow, according to Peter J. Ferrarese, assistant vice president and manager.

The system is designed to speed service at teller windows and provide more privacy for customers, Ferrarese said. Instead of lining up at each window, customers wait in a single line and when their turn comes, they go to the first available teller, he said.

If they prefer a particular teller, they may wait until he or she is available.

This system is already in use in several other banks in the county.



NEW OFFICE CENTER — Two-story structure will be completed by November just north of Edgewater Motor Hotel in Corte Madera. Park Marin Office Center will have 50,000 square feet.

Office Building Construction Starts

Construction has begun on Marin County's largest two-story suburban office building, according to its developers, Kaiser Aetna of Oakland and the Niles Co. of Sausalito.

Located on U.S. Highway 101 in Corte Madera, between the Edgewater Motor Hotel and Cinema 1 Theater, the 50,000-square foot development will be called the Park Marin Office Center. Drew Juvinall, project manager for the Niles Co., said the building has been designed to provide a casual, park-like office environment.

"With Mount Tamalpais on the west and San Francisco Bay on the east, we wanted to be sure the project was as attractive as its setting," Juvinall said. "So we've included brick pathways, trellises with hanging vines and plants and a reflecting pool in the development plan." The building itself will be contemporary in design but will make extensive use of wood in its exterior finish and trim.

Both floors have been designed to accommodate large and small tenants. A number of conveniences including full secretarial service, conference rooms, an exercise gym, a sauna, showers and free automobile and bicycle parking are available for use by all tenants.

Construction is expected to be completed by November.

Based on the convenient location with easy freeway access and the growing demand for high-quality office space in Marin County, Juvinall indicated that leasing of space has already begun and the developers expect a quick fill-up period for the office complex.

Copenhaver & Associates of San Francisco and Wagstaff & McDonald of San Anselmo were the architects. Landscape architecture was by Anthony Guzzardo of San Francisco.

Stocks Sent Tumbling By Bad Financial News

NEW YORK (UPI) — Credit tightening moves by the Federal Reserve, a subsequent rise to an 8 per cent prime bank lending rate and renewed weakness in the dollar abroad sent stocks sharply lower in sluggish trading today on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the Federal Reserve's tight-money policies, exemplified by an all-time high 7 per cent discount rate, and an increase in its reserve requirements last Friday, have worried investors who fear the cost of doing business in the nation will go up, thus weighing down stock prices. They also were distressed, analysts said, by a rise of ¼-point to an 8 per cent prime lending rate by several leading banks, including New York's Chase Manhattan and First National of Chicago.

The dollar continued to weaken on foreign currency markets. Observers attribute the decline to several factors — Watergate, gloom over the United States' economic outlook, and a general worldwide climate of monetary uncertainty.

Benguet Consolidated led the actives, up ¼ to 4 ⅝ on 109,200 shares.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in quiet trading. Syntex was the volume leader, and rose 1 ¼ to 85 ½ on 43,900 shares.

On the Big Board, gold mining issues benefitted from uncertainty over the dollar. Asa Ltd. advanced 1 ¼, and Dome Mines ⅞.

Computer issues turned downward, IBM fell 4 ½, Burroughs 1 ⅝, Honeywell 1 ⅞, and Sperry Rand 1 ⅜.

Getty declined 3 ¾, Standard Oil of Ohio 1 ½, and Atlantic Richfield 1 ¼.

Dupont dropped 2, and Eastman Kodak 1.

Building Pace Is Up During April

LOS ANGELES — California's building pace accelerated sharply during April, surging above March's volume to a new record of $871.7 million, Security Pacific Bank reported today.

April's volume, well ahead of March's $812.5 million, reflected healthy March-April gains in every major state region except for Southern California's ten counties which recorded a slight monthly easing in activity. April marked California's first month under legislation requiring builders and developers to prepare and submit environmental impact reports for private construction projects.

"On the basis of this one month's trend, it appears that this new requirement may not depress California's building pace quite as dramatically as some had predicted originally," said Senior Vice President Paul J. O'Brien.

Explanation Of Convertible Bonds

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Would you explain convertible bonds? Also would you recommend a few? — J.G.

A. These securities are usually avoided by less sophisticated investors who often are confused as to how convertibles work. Being a bond, it represents a debt of the corporation and it pays a fixed rate of return. Yet, because this particular vehicle may be converted into common stock, it tends to trade more in line with the underlying common than with interest rate levels.

Selection should be guided by such considerations as the yield differential, conversion value and conversion premium. If the premium at which a convertible bond trades is much over 20 per cent, the capital gains potential is limited. Furthermore, when the yield on the bond is very close to that on the common shares, the bond loses much of its unique appeal.

In figuring the conversion value you must first know the number of shares for which the bond may be exchanged, the current price of the bond and of the common. The share price is then multiplied by the number of shares you would receive in the swap. For example, Skil Corp. 5s of 1992 is convertible into 25 shares now trading near 27. Thus the value in common is $675 while the bond, selling at $860, commands a premium of 29 per cent over its conversion worth. The common yields 3.6 per cent, the bond 5.7 per cent for a 2.1 per cent yield differential.

Some attractive convertible bonds are: Echlin Mfg. 5¼s of 1991, Federal National Mortgage 4⅜s of 1996, Pfizer,6Inc. 4s of 1997 and Rochester Tel. 4¾s of 1995. These four securities are trading at 8-16 per cent conversion premiums, with yield differentials ranging from 1.5 per cent to 4.0 per cent. The growth outlook for the underlying common issues is above average, a factor which enhances the capital gain potential for the respective convertible bonds. In today's shifting and uncertain market atmosphere, a convertible bond offers some hedge against large losses.

Europe Talks Of Animal Feed Sales

BRUSSELS (AP) — The amount of feed and animal feed Western Europe will buy from the United States — and how much it will raise at home — are questions before leaders of the Common Market this week.

They also are talking about strengthening support for one another's currencies.
